A Prize Crew of 22 Germans Board the Ship and Dodge Cordon of Hostile Vessels While Crossing Atlantic to Hampton Roads

Capture Adds Brilliant Chapter to German Marine Exploits—Passengers include High British Officials—Raiders Captured and Sunk Six Other Vessels in Succession.

By Associated Press.

Newport News, Va., February 1.—The British South African liner Appam, given up for lost, was brought into Hampton Roads this morning, flying the German man-of-war flag, with a German prize crew of 22 men commanded by Lieutenant Berg.

She was captured at sea January 15, four days after she left Dakar, in British West Africa.

The Appam was captured off the Canary Islands January 15 by a German submarine, which a few hours before had sunk a British steamer.

The Appam brought her original passengers and 138 persons said to have been taken from other vessels by the Germans.

Four injured passengers on board are said to have been taken from an English ship from Australia.

While Lieutenant Berg came ashore to pay his respects to Colonel Haynes, commandant at Fort Monroe, quarantine officers boarded the ship. Meanwhile, no one was permitted to come ashore.

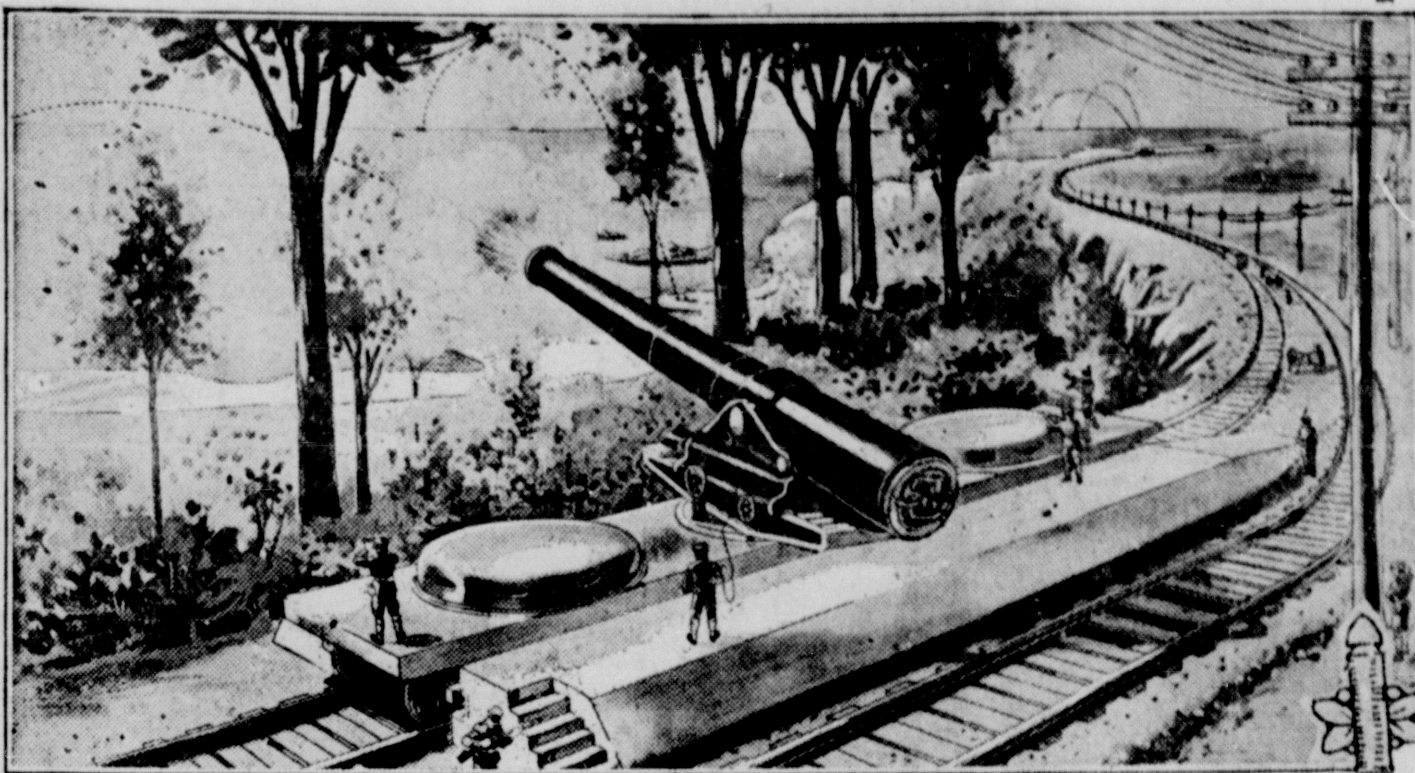

The vessel came into port under the name H. M. S. Appam (His Majesty's Ship Appam), thereby indicating that the Germans may contend that the vessel is a German auxiliary cruiser.

This theory is also strengthened by the fact that the Appam flew the German man-of-war flag, and not the flag of the German merchant marine or the British flag, as she entered port.

The Appam has one three-inch gun mounted aboard. When the submarine sent a shot across the Appam's bows, she immediately halted on account of the large number of passengers she carried.

Lieutenant Berg, of the German navy, placed on the Appam when she was captured, brought in the prize,

WANTS MOVABLE GUNS TO PROTECT US

Representative J. H. Capstick of New Jersey has introduced a coast defense bill asking $50,000,000 for largest guns and mortars, permanently mounted on especially constructed railroad cars, which, it is asserted, can be quickly transported to and securely locked upon previously constructed heavy concrete bases distributed on short spurs in railroad cuts behind hills. This new plan for national defense is the invention of Lawrence W. Luellen and Cecil F. Dawson, both of New York city.

cluding the cordon of British cruisers across the Atlantic and adding to the historic chapter of German exploits at sea.

There are 451 persons aboard the ship, including 138 survivors of seven ships sunk by the raider which captured the Appam; 20 German civilians, being transported from Africa to England to be placed in detention camps; 155 members of the Appam's crew; 116 original passengers on the Appam, and the prize crew of 22.

Many of the passengers are women and children. There are also several high British colonial officials who were returning to England from Africa.

There are also four wounded sailors, taken from one of the sunken ships which resisted capture and was shelled.

According to information gleaned from those who talked with Lieutenant Berg, the Appam was captured without any show of resistance on January 15, the day that British news reports said wireless communication with the vessel suddenly ceased.

A prize crew was placed on board, and the same day the raider which captured the Appam gave chase to another British steamer bound for Australia with a cargo of meat.

This ship gave battle, and was captured and sunk after a large portion of her cargo had been taken off.

Six more vessels were then destroyed in rapid succession, it was stated. The crews were taken on board the Appam, which ran due west across the Atlantic for Hampton Roads.

Zeppelin Raid on England Last Night Characterized as Devoid of Results—London Escapes.

By Associated Press.

London, February 1.—Official denial was made here today of reports attributed to German sources that England intends to abandon her allies and has made peace overtures to Germany.

Last night's Zeppelin raid on England apparently was not directed at London, the comment that has come through concerning it indicating that the course of the raiders was more to the north; possibly taking in the great manufacturing center of Manchester, and apparently being intended to damage or destroy munitions factories. No details of the damage have been received.

Naval and aerial activities overshadow for the moment interest in land operations, regarding which important developments are lacking for the most part.

The situation at Erzerum, according to reports, is more serious for the Turks than previous advices have indicated.

There are said to be eighty thousand men under Field Marshal von der Goltz locked up in the city with only two weeks' provisions on hand.

Cincinnati, O., February 1.—Practically every change in business methods asked by the United States government in its action against the National Cash Register Company of Dayton, Ohio, under the civil section of the Sherman anti-trust law, was agreed to by the defendants today.

Attorneys for the defendants and the government filed a consent decree in the United States District Court here.

The government's litigation against the twenty-six officials and former officials of the company was dismissed, the costs, amounting to $40,000, being assessed against the defendants.

The secretary also announced that he was addressing for presentation to the Turkish government, an inquiry as to whether a Turkish submarine was responsible for the sinking of the Persia.

WILSON SWINGS ON TOUR

By Associated Press.

Chicago, February 1.—President Wilson left Chicago at 10:01 o'clock this morning to continue his speaking tour of the Middle West.

He said he felt full of energy and much invigorated.

Stops at Joliet, Ottawa, Moline and Rock Island, Ill., were added today to the President's itinerary. Platform speeches were scheduled for each stop.

Ottawa, Ill., February 1.—President Wilson's revised schedule of short talks from the rear platform of his car was changed again today to eliminate the five-minute addresses at this city and at Moline.

Instead of the addresses, it was decided that his train should stop only two minutes at each place, and that the Presidents should only greet the crowd.

The throngs that have welcomed the President at nearly all of the stops he has made, were in evidence here, where the President was welcomed by a crowd of several thousand, among whom school children with waving flags were conspicuous.

American Navy is Ready For Call To Meet Enemies

Wilson Holds It, However, Inadequate In Size.

SPEAKS IN NORTHWEST

Assures Audiences That He Is Not Upon Present Errand Because of Any Sudden Crisis—Denies Charge That Preparedness Propaganda Is Inspired by Munition Makers—Essence of President's Remarks.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—In his speeches in Illinois and Wisconsin, President Wilson assured American citizens of foreign birth that he had no doubt of their loyalty to the flag.

The president's declaration of confidence that "the trouble makers have shot their bolt and it has been ineffectual," was made in a speech before an audience of 9,000 persons, many of them of German birth or extraction, at Milwaukee.

In Chicago and Milwaukee, the nerve centers of "hyphenism" in the west, his speeches were more pacific than at Cleveland and Pittsburgh. Milwaukee people turned out in great numbers to do the president honor, and seemed intent in advance to justify the confidence which he expressed in their unity of spirit. It was noted, however, that the heaviest applause greeted his declaration that what the country is counting upon him most of all to do is to keep it out of war, and not his complimentary assertions regarding their loyalty. In this city the president spoke to many thousands in the Chicago auditorium.

Second only in importance to the president's declaration that the danger of domestic disunion is passed was his carefully emphasized assertion that the errand which has brought him on this stumping tour does not result from anything new that has happened in our international relations.

"I want at the outset to remove any misapprehensions that may exist in your minds," said the president. "There is no sudden crisis; nothing new has happened; I am not upon this errand because of any sudden unexpected situation. I have come to confer with you upon a matter which it would in any circumstance be necessary to confer upon when all the world is on fire and your own house is not fire-proof."

In the Milwaukee speech the president reiterated the substance of his speech at Racine, in which he committed himself to plans for the government manufacture of armor plate and munitions of war. This would enable the government to control the price of what it buys, he said. He repudiated vigorously the charge that the preparedness propaganda is inspired by the interests which would profit from any enlarged army and navy.

Not Money-Making Agitation.

"Let no one suppose that this is a money-making agitation," he said. "I would for one be ashamed to be such a dupe as to be engaged in it if it had any suspicion of that about it. But I am not as innocent as I look, and I believe I can say for my colleagues in Washington that they are just as watchful in such matters as I would desire them to be."

saying that our coast defenses are of the finest in the world, although unadvertised, and that our navy is second to none in quality. But the navy is fourth in size among the navies of the world, he said, and told this story: "The Lord said unto Moses, come forth, and he came fifth and lost the race."

In his Chicago speech the president said that, if called upon, the American navy was ready for immediate service in war. He declared that the European war was brought on by rulers and not by peoples, and that he thanked God there is no ruler in America who has a right to bring on war without the consent of the people. The president defended vigorously the international policy of his administration since the outbreak of the war. "I believe we can serve the nations at war better by remaining at peace," he declared. "Somebody must keep the processes of peace alive, somebody must help repair the great losses of the war."

Mr. Wilson renewed the warnings of his previous speeches as to the dangers which face America, largely for the purpose of emphasizing the danger of too much partisan sympathy for the belligerents among our citizens. His arguments against divided loyalty were carefully couched in generalities, and he seemed to be intent upon driving home his arguments without injuring the feelings of anyone among his hearers.

The president indicated clearly that he has no hope that the good offices of the United States will be utilized in bringing about peace. He said opinions did not create the war and that opinions will not stop it.

GOVERNORS SPEAK ON M'KINLEY DAY

Youngstown, O., Feb. 1.—Governors Frank B. Willis of Ohio and Charles S. Whitman of New York met at a McKinley day dinner given by the Mahoning Valley McKinley club. Both made addresses. Ohio's governor discussed economics effected by his administration. New York's executive referred to the fact that he was born at Canfield, a village near Youngstown. Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland, candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination, also was on the program.

Governor Willis made it clear that an important issue, to be discussed in his future campaign speeches, will be money saved by departments in his administration.

FOR ARMY OF 150,000

Washington, Feb. 1.—Major General Miles, retired, was before the senate committee on military affairs to talk on preparedness. He advocated a regular army of 150,000 with skeleton regiments to be recruited to a maximum or war footing in case of threatened hostilities. General Miles did not share the fears of General Wood that the foreign foe might invade the United States successfully. He said the patriotism of the people might be relied upon to repulse an invasion before reinforcements arrived. He said a standing army could be organized with a strength of 1,000 to a regiment while the country was on a peace basis, with power to expand when danger threatened. He believed an army of 400,000 could easily be raised by expansion.

WIDOW FACES AWFUL CHARGE

Providence, R. Vadeboncoeur received the pastry by parcel post in Woonsocket, sharing it with his friends. He died in great agony, evidently from metallic poison. Cassavant, in eating a greater part of the pastry, got an overdose and escaped death, although he was dangerously ill.

Pekin, Feb. 1.—The province of Kwai-Chow, adjoining Yunnan on the east, is now in full rebellion. The governor fled on January 16. All communications have been interrupted. It is reported that 12,000 revolutionists from this province, in company with Yunnanese rebels, are marching of Chung-King, where the main garrison of government troops are located. The American gunboat Monocacy is stationed at this point on the Yangtse Kiang river, and the commander has notified Dr. Reisch, the American minister in Peking, that a zone has been outlined in which he will protect foreigners threatened by the fighting. Luchow and Tse-Lieutsing are said to have fallen to the rebel forces. A large force of revolutionists is said to be marching on Peking.

SENATE TO QUIT THE PHILIPPINES

Would Dispose of Philippine Measure at Early Date.

M'CUMBER PROPOSAL LOST

Chairman Kitchin Not to Oppose Bill to Create Tariff Commission, but Will Not Lead Fight For the Proposition—Burnett Immigration Bill Ready For the House—Proceedings of Congress.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The amendment to the Philippine bill, offered by Mr. McCumber, which would withhold independence from the Filipinos unless the powers agreed to respect their sovereignty, was defeated in the senate without a rollcall. The senate agreed to hurry the bill to a vote by extending daily sessions and recessing instead of adjourning, so that all other business would be shut out until it is disposed of.

Senator Clapp of Minnesota declared during the debate that he believed the Filipinos were ready for their independence at once. "There is a menace in holding the islands," he continued, "but it is a menace to the Filipinos themselves."

Senator Sutherland disagreed as to the readiness of the islands for independence, declaring that to relinquish them now would be "a cowardly act."

Secretary McAdoo and Democratic Leader Kitchin discussed the administration bill to create a tariff commission, which soon will be introduced in the house with President Wilson's backing.

It was agreed that Mr. Kitchin will not lead the fight for the bill, as he does not agree with the tariff commission idea, but he will not oppose it. The bill will be steered through the house by Representative Rainey, who ranks next to Kitchin on the ways and means committee.

Some administration leaders have been of the opinion that the bill should not provide for a tariff commission with power to revise schedules, but for a board somewhat similar to the old tariff board, which investigated the cost of production here and abroad and acted as a sort of auxiliary to congress in collecting tariff statistics. Mr. Kitchin is anxious to have the law contain a provision that the commission report to congress and not to the executive branch of the government.

which he tells of the political battles he has fought for Willis, pointing out that after all these, the governor has left him out in the cold because of bad advice.

Heavy political pressure may be brought to bear upon the board of administration to make spoils out of the positions at the eighteen state institutions under its control. Heretofore this has been prevented only by the fact that the board was equally divided between the old and new administrations.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The Burnett immigration bill embodying a provision designed to restrict the incoming flood of undesirable aliens from Europe expected after the war was reported to the house. A New Plan

Mayor Oster, in passing sentence upon three individuals who had fractured the laws of the state and the ordinances of the city, assessed fines in each instance.

In these particular cases though there was a new wrinkle added. Instead of the usual "stand committed to the work-house until the fine and costs are paid" which has so long been the concluding paragraph in Mayor's court sentences, Mayor Oster stated that the amount of the fine and costs must be worked out on the streets of the city under the directions of the Safety-Service director.

Each one of the offenders was ordered to report for work and stated that he was glad of the chance.

Half of the money earned is to go to the culprit for the support of his family and the other half to the city in satisfaction of his fine.

That seems to be an excellent arrangement all around. Instead of giving the Xenia, Columbus, or Cincinnati work-house authorities the benefit of the fine assessed and in some instances paying for his "keep" the offender goes to work on the streets and alleys, the city of Washington and the family receive the benefit of the labor performed. The fine is paid and at the same time the money received in satisfaction of the fine is judiciously expended on public work.

There seems now no reason why that plan should not work out splendidly.

Then too, it's an honor system. No chain gang features. The man is free to come or go as he pleases but if he goes he must keep on going.

In either event the city wins.

Chicago's Way

Chicago is certainly in the limelight as furnishing unusual happenings.

Of course Chicago is a great city and consequently a great source of news. The metropolis of the west, however, has not entirely shaken off all the new town symptoms and the big news stories that come out of Chicago are a mixture of the metropolitan life and the frontier country.

Of late there have been several spectacular robberies and hold-ups in Chicago, regular wild west style. That was strange enough.

As a sequel now to these unusual happenings the news comes from the big city by Lake Michigan that the police were in on a plan which resulted in the lawless outbreaks.

In order to discredit the present city administration some of the police cliques imported expert gunmen and hold-up artists and the extent and brilliancy of their operations amazed even those who had brought them to the city.

The result is a free confession all around.

That's a typical Chicago way. A way which no other city in this or any other land can boast of or apologize for, as the results demand.

Raid On Paris

The promised raid on Paris by the German Zeppelin fleet occurred Saturday night. Paris has been prepared for some time for the coming of the air raiders and the first word from the outskirts that the big dirigibles were on their way to Paris roused the inhabitants and the defenders of the gay city to action. All the lights of the great city on the Seine were extinguished, even those in the private residences were reduced to the absolute minimum and heavy blinds were drawn to prevent the rays shining out into the darkness.

Gay Paris became, in a few minutes, as silent and as dark as the tomb. From various sections of the city the aeroplane fleet spread its monster wings and whirled aloft to attack the invaders. Each detachment of the army of defenders sought its proper level in the higher air and search lights crossed the rays sending their broad white glare to every corner of the darkened heavens.

The invaders reached only the outskirts of the great city and then turned back.

The time of the raid was well chosen—a dense fog operating to hinder the defenders and to aid the attacking party.

The invaders driven off, Paris returned to streets, the shops and cafes. As a military measure the raid was a failure.

A few noncombatants were killed and mangled, some property destroyed, but the effect on the war campaigns was, like all the balance of these raids—nil.

Poetry For Today

OUR TRULY PERFECT THAW.

Chant a paean, if you will,
To the winter's soul,
To the wizardry and skill
Of the frosty scroll.
Lilt the loveliness of May,
Joys that it foretells,
To a June's contented day
Ring the wedding bells.
In a deeper, fuller strain,
As the year grows old,
Sing the song of ripening grain
To a tune of gold.
When the autumn's pageant flings
Splendor wide and far
Let your chorus mount on wings
To the highest star.
And when faded fields and sere
All the vision dim,
To the passing of the year
Hum a farewell hymn.
But if on a new one you
Would wag acclaiming jaw,
Warble forth a lyric to
This theme without a flaw,
This sunshine-painted domed-in-blue
This January Thaw.

GEM IN CHICKEN'S CRAW.

Colwyn (Pa.) Woman Found There a Diamond Worth More Than $100.

Colwyn, Pa.—Whether there is a diamond mine in Philadelphia or in Delaware county Mrs. Otto Woerner of 50 South Third street, Colwyn, is not sure, but she does know that the chicken that she recently purchased from a Baltimore avenue (East Lansdowne) dealer was a most valuable bird and incidentally proved the best investment she ever made.

When Mrs. Woerner opened the chicken and cut open its craw she saw something sparkle and on closer examination was surprised and delighted to find that it was a pure blue-white diamond of the first water.

Having it appraised by an expert, she was told that it was worth considerably more than $100. Since the announcement of this discovery was made the dealer has had a run on chickens.

CZAR OF RUSSIA IS AN ACTIVE RULER

Rises Early and Puts In Twelve Hours of Work.

MEALTIME IS MADE MERRY.

All Governmental Affairs Are Tabooed When Royal Family Is Eating, and Time Is Passed In a Jovial Manner. Always Prays Before Retiring After Strenuous Day.

Petrograd.—The czar of Russia, to whom few Americans have had the opportunity of speaking save diplomats, is one of the busiest rulers in Europe.

He rises at 7 o'clock after about seven hours of sleep and then puts in ten or twelve hours of work, and no fewer than four hours of these are spent alone. About six hours are given to meals and relaxation with the family. No governmental affairs are allowed to be discussed during mealtime, and the czar, czarina and the children indulge in merry talk.

Before 9 the czar has finished his modest breakfast and begun his daily work. He reads the newspapers, telegrams and other information presented to him and makes a note of all interesting matter. The time from 10 to 11 o'clock is assigned to walking, but nearly always from 10 to half past 10 o'clock he receives the reports of the officials of his household or gives special audiences to dignitaries or men who interest him, and only during the time until 11 o'clock does he walk alone or with his son, accompanied by two Scotch hounds. At 11 o'clock he returns to the palace and tests the food of his infantry regiment or of his bodyguard. A sample of the soldiers' food in a locked stewpan is brought to him by the chief noncommissioned officer of the regiment. After the test of the food the reports of the ministers begin, lasting until luncheon.

The luncheon is informal. There he meets his family for the first time in the day. Sometimes the officers of the suit on duty that day are invited. After luncheon the emperor receives officials and deputies, and from 4 to 5 o'clock he walks, drives, rides on a bicycle or canoes and goes boating with his son or with his daughters and the empress. From 6 to 8 o'clock he works again in his study. From 8 to half past 9 he dines with his family, and from that time to 12 or half past he works again. He never rests during the day, yet keeps cheerful and unweary. Sometimes, when he finishes his task earlier than usual, he reads to the empress at her evening tea. Before going to bed he prays.

On the eve of holy days the czar goes to the evening church services at half past 7 o'clock, and on holy days he goes to mass at 11. The rest of the time on holy days he works as on week days.

Possessing an excellent memory and a clear method of thinking, the czar writes in a clear hand, quickly and without erasures. His thoughts are expressed simply and briefly; he does not like long phrases and foreign words.

The czar receives thousands of persons during the course of a year. His speeches to deputations are always short, simple and hearty. "I never prepare my speeches in advance," said he, "but after a prayer to God I speak as it comes."

At the greater part of receptions the visitors stand, but venerable persons are invited to study to sit down. After audiences in Tsarkoe Selo and Peterhof the visitors are treated to luncheon. The ministers have special days for their reports, the duration of each being fixed in advance. The audiences of private persons with the emperor ordinarily last from three to four minutes.

The private charity of the emperor is extensive. He gives not only by hundreds, but by thousands of rubles.

The difficult work of the government the czar does alone—he has no private secretaries. He has some help from the officials of his household and the officers of his suit.

MULES CHEW TOBACCO.

Those Used in a Mine Will Resort to Tricks to Get the Weed.

Nevada City, Cal.—The miners at the Champion mine in this city have taught the mules that haul the ore cars hundreds of feet below the surface to chew tobacco, and these animals are regular fiends after the weed.

Some of the miners whose work throws them more in contact with the mules than the others say that the mules will resort to tricks in order to get tobacco and that one instance is recorded where a miner had his pants torn by a mule who observed where the tobacco plug was placed in the man's pockets and attempted to pull it out through the cloth.

Recently when a mule from the Champion mine was lost it was finally captured through the lure of chewing tobacco. It would not permit any one to come near it on the road, although ordinarily it was very docile. When Foreman Thomas Gill approached the animal with a piece of tobacco in his hand the old mule quietly flapped his long ears and came forward and permitted himself to be led gently home.

CONFESSES OLD CRIME.

Killed Soldier Near Manila In 1903. Hasn't Had Luck Since.

San Francisco.—Confessing that he had killed his tentmate near Manila over twelve years ago and that he wished now to surrender and atone for his crime, W. A. Ojeda, an ex-soldier, gave himself up to the police.

Ojeda says the man he killed was George D. Miller, who enlisted in the army from Omaha under the name of George Moore, and that the crime occurred in the camp about four miles out of Manila, during the night of June 27, 1903. He declared he shot him for self protection.

"I have never had any luck since then," he continued, "and, although I have married and raised three children, everything has gone wrong. I want to square myself on this thing and then start over again."

Ojeda says his family is now at Cedar Hill, Tex. He claims to have been raised at Hollister, Cal.

SHE KNEW AMOS.

And Evidently Amos Was Fairly Well Acquainted With Her.

The man who takesrolley rides through the country, says a writer in the Boston Advertiser, sees and hears much that is amusing. On one occasion, while I was riding through the outskirts of Amesbury, an old lady—but a decidedly spry one—hailed the car. She was accompanied down to the road from the house by a young woman, possibly her daughter.

The elder woman put her foot on the lower running board, grasped the upright and was about to climb into the car when she turned to the young woman and said:

"Don't forget that gingerbread in the oven, Liza. You know pa just hates burnt gingerbread."

"All aboard!" shouted the conductor. But the old lady paid no attention to him.

"And, Liza," she continued, "when you pick up the eggs, bimby, look out for that Rhode Island Red that wants to set. She'll peck you if you ain't careful."

"All aboard!" again shouted the conductor, but as the old lady proceeded to climb on to the car she paused long enough to say to him: "Ye can't scare me, Amos. I've known ye ever since ye was knee high."

Amos grinned, pulled the bell, and we were on our way.

Lost His Bearings.

It was an English skipper of the olden time who, having knowledge beyond the seeming needs, as he could read and use the charts, was dispatched to Rotterdam. The skipper had never been to Rotterdam before, so after getting over the bar and well away to the east he produced his charts and made a learned inspection, but the charts had been a long time in the locker and circumstances combined to alarm him extremely. He went up on deck and called to his mate, "Put her about; the rats have eaten Holland!"

Diversity of opinion proves that things are only what we think them.—Montaigne.

GREAT SALT LAKE.

Its Water Is Saline Simply Because It Has No Outlet.

Great Salt lake has no outlet. The Jordan river, which enters it from the south, is the outlet of Utah lake. Bear river, coming from the north, carries the outflow from Bear lake. The waters of Utah and Bear lakes and of Jordan and Bear rivers are fresh, and so is the water of Weber river, the third great tributary of Great Salt lake, but the lake into which the three rivers flow is saline. It is saline because it has no outlet.

The fresh waters of the rivers contain some saline matter, but the quantity is too small to be discovered by taste.

As stated by the chemist, in parts per million, the quantity seems minute, but when account is taken of the total volume of water brought by the streams to the lake in a year their burden of saline matter is found to be really great, amounting annually to more than 500,000 tons.

Year by year and century by century the water which they pour into the lake is evaporated, but the dissolved solids cannot escape in that way and therefore remain.

They have accumulated until the lake water is approximately saturated, holding nearly as much mineral matter as it can retain in solution. The lake contains over 5,000,000,000 tons of common salt and 300,000,000 tons of glauber salt (sodium sulphate) as well as other mineral matter.

$100,000,000 Better

YOU think of the Baltimore & Ohio System in terms of the past—as a great scenic and historical route—as America's first railway—should know it today. In past four years $100,000,000 have been used to improve the roadbed to straighten curves, to add new tracks, to better the equipment. Millions have been spent for coaches and engines of the all-steel, electric lighted trains, with an excellent dining car service. All the attractions of Nature which made it "the scenic route of Eastern America" are still here for you—but we have made them $100,000,000 better. You can not ride in better trains, over a finer roadbed anywhere.

TWO MILES OF MAIN ROADS WILL BE PAVED THIS YEAR

Does Not Include Contracts Already Let—Property Owners on Main Highways Near This City Anxious to Obtain Paving—County Can Build Approximately Two Miles of Brick Roads Each Year Under State Aid.

Residents along the main thoroughfares near this city are becoming much interested in obtaining construction of brick roadway, and a delegation of property owners appeared before the county commissioners Monday, seeking to obtain a further extension of the brick paving on the Leesburg pike, where the next to the longest stretch of brick highway in the county is now located, the longest piece of brick paving being on the Bloomingburg and Sedalia pike, where the paving and contract for additional paving extend a distance of nearly four miles.

Petitions have been filed with the commissioners during the past few years, for the paving of nearly all of the main pikes near this city, and this year there can be built in this county under the state aid plan, some two miles of brick highways, and it is believed that this will be constructed upon two of the main arteries leading into the city, so that it may do the largest number of people the most good.

Each year the state will have enough funds available for about two miles of brick highway for Fayette county, paying one-half, the county paying 25 per cent, township 15 per cent and the property owners 10 per cent.

The indications are that a lively contest will develop between the property owners along the various main highways, in an effort to obtain the brick paving as soon as possible.

The amount to be paid by the county will not include any part of the two mill levy fund, which will be expended for the improvement and rebuilding of roads by macadamizing.

So far the amount of roadway rebuilt with macadam under the state aid plan consists of some four miles on the Devalon road, while the amount of paved roads built and now under contract is between six and seven miles, and an additional two miles will probably be added during the present year.

The commissioners will decide in the near future which road or roads will be improved under the state aid plan this year.

FIRE CHIEF ASKS CITY SOLICITOR TO FILE SUIT

Changes at Engine House to Accommodate Mayor's Office and Council Chambers Is the Cause—Misappropriation of Property and Unlawful Expenditure of Money Are Alleged.

G. M. Paul, chief of the Washington Fire Department, Monday afternoon presented a written application to City Solicitor Gregg requesting him to bring suit to prevent the use of the city Engine House for Mayor's office and council chambers, as planned by Mayor Oster.

The application, or demand, was made by Mr. Paul as a taxpayer and signed by him as chief of the fire department.

Grounds for the action demanded were alleged misappropriation of property and the alleged unlawful expenditure of money for making certain changes in the engine house to accommodate the mayor's office and council chambers.

Solicitor Gregg refused to comply with the request of Mr. Paul, and signed a refusal to that effect. He bases his refusal on his belief that the action demanded is without just grounds and that there is nothing to prevent the carrying out of the changes contemplated and under way holding that the Engine House is city property and should be utilized for city purposes.

It is understood that the action demanded by Mr. Paul is based on the belief that when the city ordered the building of the engine house that it was to be utilized by the fire department alone, and that the changes contemplated and under way would disturb the firemen and render their quarters less desirable, and that the expenditure necessary to make the changes is without authority.

It is understood that Mr. Paul previously had retained Attorney Logan to represent him in action against the city.

Meanwhile the work of making the changes is moving forward quietly, the radiators having been installed and the work of plastering started so that if the work is not stopped by injunction proceedings, it will be completed in the near future.

Mayor Oster and the Service-Safety Director are proceeding under the recent action of council in which a committee report was accepted which recommended the changes and that an appropriation of $300 be made for carrying on the work.

CHIEF OF FIRE DEPARTMENT TO FACE CHARGES

Late Tuesday afternoon City Solicitor Gregg, acting upon instructions from Mayor Oster, was drawing up charges against Chief of the Washington Fire Department, G. M. Paul, asking for his removal for alleged insubordination.

Mayor Oster expected to file the charges with the local Civil Service Commission immediately.

Failure to comply with the instructions recently issued for a weekly fire drill and for tests of water hydrants are said to be the acts of alleged insubordination.

CONVERTS NOW NUMBER 284

Eight people went forward Monday night and started on a better life, at the Sunnyside tabernacle meeting. There was a good crowd out and a very interesting after-service. A testimony meeting was held, many of the new converts telling of how they had been benefited by the tabernacle meeting. Rev. Willhite preached on the same text he used Sunday night: "A Sower Went forth to Sow," following a different line of thought.

Evangelist Willhite reports the number of conversions up to date as follows: Formerly reported, 276; Monday night, 8; total, 284.

Thursday night there will be a special service for young people, but old and young will be welcome. Friday night Evangelist Willhite will preach on "Meat and Bones," which is said to be one of his best sermons. Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock there will be a special mass meeting for women and preaching at 7 p. m. Sunday.

BIDS OPENED ON BIG ISSUE OF CITY BONDS

Tuesday afternoon the Finance Committee of council, City Auditor McFadden and Solicitor Gregg opened bids received for some $38,000 in street improvement bonds, and the highest bidder was the A. E. Aub & Company, of Cincinnati, who bid par, accrued interest to date of delivery and a premium of $2079.

The bonds in question were divided up as follows: City's portion of Paint street and Columbus avenue, $30,000; Special assessment bonds on West Court street, $7,380; Special Assessment Craig-Penn alley, $660.

In addition to the bid of Aub & company, the following bids were received:

Breed, Elliott & Harrison, Cincinnati, $2,096.57.

Stacy Brown Company, Toledo, $2079.

Sidney Spitzer & Co., Toledo, $2,037.

Weil Roth & Co., Cincinnati, $2,046.50.

Tillotson-Wolcott Company, Cleveland, $2060.93.

Security Savings Bank & Trust Co., Toledo, $1929.30.

Field Richards & Company, Cincinnati, $1815.

Commercial Bank, City, $1791.62.

Hayden, Mitter & Co., Cleveland, $1740.

C. E. Dennison & Co., Cleveland, $1765.80.

Provident Savings Bank of Cincinnati, $1697.30.

Seasongood, Mayer & Co., Cincinnati, $1311.

Fifth-Third National Bank of Cincinnati, $1219.80.

NOTABLES WILL ATTEND BANQUET

A number of widely known Ohioans will attend the annual banquet of the Fish & Game Society in this city Wednesday night, and a most enjoyable evening is anticipated.

Gen. John C. Speaks, Chief Game Warden, will be among those attending.

Mr. J. W. Kirgan, member of the State Board of Agriculture, of Akron, and Geo. G. Tinkham, president of the Columbus Fish & Game Association and expert bait caster, who attended the picnic of the Association last summer, will be present. Also J. F. Atwood, prominent Columbus attorney, and Secretary of the Ohio Sportsmen League. Several Columbus citizens not included in the above list, also are expected.

TO PAY FINE, MEN ARE NOW AT WORK

Three men who Saturday morning were fined various sums upon various charges and ordered to report to Service-Safety Director Hillery to go to work on sewer or street work, reported for duty Monday noon and started in to pay off their fines.

Of the $1.50 allowed the men for each day they work, 75 cents goes to support them and the additional 75 cents applies on their respective fines.

The plan is working so well that the next persons who face His Honor and cannot pay, will be given a job with the pick and shovel.

MAY DECIDE CASE LATE THIS WEEK

So far the briefs and exhibits in the case of R. C. Hunt against the City of Washington and the Washington Gas and Electric Company have not reached Judge Newby, who will decide the case.

It is expected that the briefs and exhibits will reach the Judge Wednesday, and that he will decide the case late this week.

A telephone conversation with Judge Newby this week elicited the statement that his decision in the case would be given just as soon as the briefs and exhibits were carefully examined.

CASE TAKEN UP IN COMMON PLEAS

The Eastern Rock Island Plow Company against A. S. Glascock, assignee, was taken up in Common Pleas court Tuesday morning, and is being tried before Judge Carpenter and the jury.

The plaintiff is represented by Post & Reid and the defendant by F. A. Chaffin.

POOL TOURNAMENT IS NOW UNDER WAY

The rotation wizard pool tournament at the Oak Pool Room was launched Monday, by Messrs. Cosano and Stewart, and a number of good scores were made. The tournament will continue throughout the week.

The 15 high scores of Monday were:

E. Ford, 65; R. Elliott, 59; J. Donahoe, 56; C. L. Craig, 51; J. Williams, 48; Bill Minturn, 45; J. Leland, 44; L. Coyle, 40; R. Maddox, 39; R. Judy 39; W. Sheridan, 38; W. Wornecke, 33; M. Shipley, 32; A. Maddox, 29; A. Snyder, 25.

PROTEST MADE AGAINST WAGONS

Protest by one of the property owners has been made over the locating of the "express" wagons on Market street, immediately east of the Fayette street intersection, and as a result the wagons were moved temporarily back to the corner of Court and Main streets until the matter could be settled.

The express wagon drivers beat a hasty retreat when threatened by the enraged property owner, appealing to the Mayor for protection if they were moved to the new location.

STRONG HILLSBORO TEAM IS BOOKED

The representative "Y" team is looking forward to another victory Thursday night of this week, but which cannot be won without some hard individual playing and good team work.

The event will be a clash between Hillsboro and the "Y" team, and as both the local team and the Hillsboro aggregations have defeated Jamestown, there is an additional reason why the local boys are anxious to defeat the Highland countians.

S. S. LEAGUE GAMES AT 7:30 TONIGHT

The teams of the Sunday School Basket Ball League, and their scores of rosters, are looking forward to two of the fastest games of the series tonight at 7:30.

The Presbyterians and Sampsons are matched and the Kappa Sigmas meet the Baptists. Some hard practice work has been taking place among the various teams, it is understood, and the result is expected to be manifest when the opponents take the floor tonight.

No admission will be charged. The public is invited.

FREEZING WEATHER LOWERS THE CREEKS

The freeze of Monday night did much toward reducing the swollen streams throughout the county, and the creeks, which Monday threatened to reach flood stage had withdrawn to their main channels in most places Tuesday morning.

The freeze also did much toward taking the water from the public highways, and placing the roads in better condition to travel than they were Monday.

MAY SUE DEWITT ON $1000 BOND

Mayor Oster Tuesday afternoon instructed Solicitor Gregg to bring suit against Allie DeWitt to recover $1,000 on a collateral bond which DeWitt filed with Mayor Coffey in July, 1915, as a guarantee that he would sell no more liquor.

It is alleged DeWitt has forfeited the bond.

HAD NO LIGHTS; $10 AND COSTS

Cliff Harris was before Mayor Oster, Monday afternoon, to answer to a charge of operating an automobile after darkness without displaying the necessary lights, the claim being that he had no lights showing.

$10 and the costs is the extent of the fine assessed against him.

NEW WHITE OAK CHURCH WILL COST $10,000.00

At a meeting of the trustees of White Oak M. P. church, Monday, it was decided to erect a handsome $10,000 brick edifice to take the place of the one recently destroyed by fire.

Insurance to the extent of nearly $3,000 has been collected, and Mr. Wilbur F. Collins, well known public spirited citizen, has volunteered to give $2,000 providing the remainder of the $10,000 be subscribed.

The trustees are now at work obtaining subscriptions and expect to speedily complete their canvass. Rev. Harper is pastor of the church, which has a strong membership and the church site is a beautiful one.

Mr. Collins recently donated four acres to the church for burial purposes.

PERILOUS ATHLETICS.

Sport That Wrecks the Heart an Evil to Be Avoided.

"No one will gainsay the value and pleasure of outdoor exercise graduated to suit the needs of every individual throughout life," says the Journal of the American Medical Association, "but the species of overdoing called for in the intense competition of the great contests of our schools and colleges can no longer be defended by platitudes regarding the alleged psychological value of its competitive features. The time has come when statistics regarding latent athletic injuries must be reckoned with and the lives of our youths safeguarded by making a distinction between sane sport and in sane participation in the intolerable strain of competitive games of the extreme type."

The same paper says the authorities of colleges need to be reminded in an emphatic way, in the words of Dr. R. N. Wilson of Philadelphia, that "no form of athletic event is sane that demands of the participants the serious state of heart exhaustion at conclusion."

And it denounces the daredevil form of "sport" that depend for their on nearest possible approach to death by the actors in them, such, for example, as "looping the loop" in an airplane or driving a motorcar a hundred miles an hour. Such, it says, are sport, but degeneracy.

A Strange Situation.

"Humor is a very funny thing," said Binks.

"It ought to be," said the philosopher.

"Oh, I don't mean that way," said Binks. "I mean that it is a strange thing. Now, I can't speak French, but I can always understand a French joke, and I can speak English, but I'm blessed if I can see an English joke."

"Most people are," said the philosopher.

"Are what?" said Binks.

"Blessed if they can see an English joke," said the philosopher. "It is a sign of an unusually keen vision."

Force of the Imagination.

There is a story of a man who tied up in a dark room and informed that he was to be put to death. His tormentors made small incision in his neck and arranged for a stream of lukewarm water trickle down his back for fifteen minutes. At the end of fifteen minutes the man died of exhaustion. He had lost a drop of blood, but he thought had. Such is the power of suggestion.—London Saturday Review.

With the appearance here of Dr. Robert Perry Shepherd, President of Columbia University, as one of the lecturers in the Community Efficiency Institute, Fayette county citizens will have the opportunity of hearing, without charge, one of the greatest community life men of the country.

Some of the lecture subjects of this forceful man are: "How to Get Boys and Girls to Leave Home," "The Community Family," "Beating the Doctor," "An A. A. Montgomery Roebuck Co.—Community Builders," "What are the Facts? Follow Your Nose," "Corn, Grain and Other Crops," "Babies and Other Folks," "The End of the World—Front End," "Schools on the Social Turntable," "Commerce." The subjects of his sermon lectures are: "Jesus' Picture Gallery," "Youth's Tragic Question," "Why Not Try Christianity?" The sessions will be of absorbing interest alike to city and country residents.

ONE OF THE MEN ILL IN THIS CITY

The Betts automobile smashup on Western avenue, last November was recalled by the arraignment of Thomas Haynes, Oscar Brown, colored, and George Humphrey, three occupants of the wrecked machine, in Police court this morning. The three were charged with taking Francis N. Bett's automobile from the latter's barn on South Walnut street, November 28, without the plaintiff's consent. Haynes and Humphrey pleaded not guilty and had their cases continued until February 1. Brown pleaded guilty to driving the car and was bound over to the grand jury.

Cyrus Valentine, who is said to have obtained the car, is ill at Washington C. H.—Chillicothe News.

SHE THOUGHT ANGELS HAD SPOKEN TO HER

Hears Music After Twenty-seven Years of Deafness.

Newport, Ky.—Here is the great adventure:

It is to hear music when one hasn't heard a sound in a lifetime of twenty-seven years.

To Mrs. Hilda Runkel of this place it was as though angels had spoken. Until recently Mrs. Runkel neither heard a sound nor spoke a word. And she is twenty-seven.

Recently she was paying a visit to her downstairs neighbors, the Catillas. John Catilla had fashioned a home-made violin out of a cigar box. It was a fairly good violin at that. It is good enough to produce "My Old Kentucky Home." And that was what Catilla was playing at the moment of the miracle.

Mrs. Runkel was seated. But suddenly she arose. In her eyes was a look of one to whom had been given a great revelation. She lifted her hand to her right ear, and then she pointed to the violin and then again to her ear. And thus she made it known that she had heard.

Each day since her hearing has improved. She is now learning to make the sounds she hears. In seven days she mastered fifty-two words. Mrs. Catilla is her teacher.

"Mother" was her first word, and "father" was the second.

The words came painfully like those of a baby learning to talk.

THE FIRST SKYSCRAPER.

It Was Designed by a Savoy Architect Three Centuries Ago.

Credit for the first skyscraper built in this country is generally conceded to Chicago. It was built in the "loop district" of that city in 1886, from plans by Holabird & Roche. The first example of lofty building in New York city was the structure at 50 Broadway, designed by Bradford Lee Gilbert in 1888. A few years later both these wonders became insignificant and practically forgotten because they were so greatly outdone by succeeding skyscrapers. But these were not the initial efforts, for a skyscraper was designed nearly three centuries ago, many generations before the discovery of the steel cage system of this day.

Jacques Perret, an architect of Chambery, Savoy, is the accredited author of plans for an eleven story building, 361 feet in height, which must have had twice the space between floors, for today eleven stories are crowded within a height of 150 feet. Perret's building was planned to be 166 feet long and 140 feet wide, with supporting walls twelve feet thick at the base.

While never executed, the project of Perret in many ways was a remarkable prophetic vision. Evidently it was intended for dwelling purposes, for in describing the project he wrote, "This great and excellent edifice can accommodate comfortably 500 people."—New York Post.

INDELIBLE MARKING.

Advantages of Using Just Ordinary Blueprint Solution.

There are many occasions upon which it is necessary to mark linen or wearing apparel indelibly with one's name and address, yet the ink sold for this purpose is not always convenient to use or attractive in appearance, says the American Boy.

A very good substitute is the ordinary blueprint powder, sold by any photographic dealer, a thick solution being made and used just as the ordinary ink would be. Instead of fixing this by the use of a hot iron, it is made permanent simply by washing in several changes of cold water. When thoroughly fixed the writing will appear in a very pretty shade of blue. Should you prefer, a rubber stamp may be used instead of a pen. In this case a little glycerine should be mixed with the solution, which should be spread upon a clean cloth or blotter. This is then used as an inking pad for the stamp.

Aside from its convenience marking with blue print solution has the advantage that traces of the writing or any stains caused by it may be removed if desired by the application of a solution of tannin.

Farmer Buried Alive.

Warsaw, Ind.—Martin Greenbaum, a farmer, narrowly escaped death under a strawstack. Cattle had burrowed in the stack so that it threatened to topple over. Greenbaum attempted to prop up the stack and was caught under it when it collapsed. He was dug out two hours later by relatives who missed him and who had found him under the straw after a long hunt. He was almost suffocated when rescued.

THINGS DOING AT THE MOVIES

COLONIAL

"The Winged Idol," Monday and Tuesday's Triangle, is a Thomas H. Ince production of unusual strength, owing much of its attraction to the charm of Miss Katherine Kaelred, in the role of a Russian seeress.

"Crooked to the End," Triangle comedy featuring Fred Mace, accompanied the Monday-Tuesday program Thursday and Friday bring one of the choicest of the Triangle collection, "Jordan is a Hard Road," a quite recent release starring Dorothy Gish, Owen Moore and Frank Campeau. The scenes of the play are laid in the Canadian Northwest, and are brimful of action.

The inimitable comedy artists Weber and Fields, with Roscoe Arbuckle, Sam Bernard and Willie Collier, commend the action in the comedy reel "Fatty and the Broadway Stars," running with the Thursday-Friday program.

EMPIRE

Howard Estebrooke, seen here in Officer 666, appears in another Gold Rooster production at the Empire, Tuesday, "The Closing Net," a five part feature directed by Edward Jose, producer and actor of note, late with William Fox.

Wednesday the Empire presents "Midnight at Maxims," consisting of four reels of comedy with Ethel Rose and Lee Pirnikoff. The fact that the famous Maxims is the actual scene of the play completes the picture's reality.

Bessie Barriscale, prominent stage star who was seen here recently in The Golden Claw, revisits Washington in "The Reward," a four part Thomas Ince produced Mutual masterpiece, Thursday.

Charlie Chaplin, prince of fun-makers, returns after a long absence in "Shanghai'd" Friday, one of the most recent Chaplin releases, Saturday brings the usual varied program.

WONDERLAND

Hugh Weir's big serial, "Graft," which has awakened very considerable interest in the larger cities of the East, has been secured by Manager Johnson of the Wonderland for local audiences. The first episode will be presented Tuesday.

This feature is a powerful and comprehensive expose of big financial manipulation, and is undoubtedly the crowning work of the local author.

The installments will be run on the same days as those of "Neal of the Navy," the latter concluding in three weeks.

Laura Hope Crews is a Wonderland visitor Wednesday, starring in "The Fighting Hope," a five part Paramount.

"Kilmeny" is the title of Friday's Show.

Paramount five-reeler, which presents Lenora Ulrich in the lead. Thursday—Paramount Educational.

Saturday—"Shadow of Fear," "Dreamy Dud," "Romance of Mexico" and "Twice Won."

PALACE

William Farnum leads the bill at the Palace again this week, appearing Tuesday in "The Soldier's Oath," a play in which the present European war is made the center of action and presenting Mr. Farnum in the unique and pleasing role of a French soldier.

Some of the battle scenes in this picture could not have been more realistic if genuine, and the work of Farnum is that of the artist inspired. Pretty Dorothy Bernard, the charming little brunette who has been starring with Farnum in nearly all of his latest successes, has been mated with him in this.

Another feature of more than ordinary importance at the Palace this week will be a Biograph adapted from the master piece by Georges Ohnet, produced in three reels and featuring Serge Panine.

Among the lower animals only five per cent are defective at birth, a much lower ratio than among human beings.

TANLAC SECURES HIGHEST RECORD

Quality Tells The Interesting Story Of This Extraordinary Medicine.

No other medicine ever has approached the wonderful record of Tanlac. Its success is a romance of the staid business world—a success built on merit so unusual that in just nine months after Tanlac had been introduced, one million bottles had been sold to men and women who had learned its superior qualities for the relief of ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys and catarrhal affections.

Tanlac appeals to the best people everywhere. These are the men and women who judge intelligently and impartially, and the result always is a Tanlac verdict. Upon the endorsement of many thousands of well known people rests the great and secure popularity of Tanlac.

Those who take Tanlac always return for the second bottle because the first few doses establish its merits. Tanlac is so efficient and pure, it at once makes known its value in derangements of the stomach, indigestion, upset nerves and debility.

Tanlac, that has come to be generally known as the Master Medicine, may now be obtained in Washington C. H., at Blackmer & Tanquary's where it is explained daily to many people.

Tanlac may be obtained in New Holland at the New Holland Drug Store.

LANSING DESIRES DEAL WITH KAISER

NOT A PROPOSITION FOR ARBITRATION

Nation's Honor Involved In the Lusitania Issue.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The United States has completely shut off any hope of a settlement of the Lusitania case with Germany through the machinery of international arbitration. This fact, obtained from an official source, indicates the extent to which Secretary Lansing has gone in his demand for an unconditional disavowal by Germany.

The refusal to arbitrate, it was learned, was based on the ground that the "vital interests and national honor" of the United States being involved the matter was one which could not be submitted to arbitration.

It was the second time such a proposal has been turned down, and it was rejected finally at the last conference which the secretary of state had with Ambassador Bernstorff.

The first proposition was made soon after the Lusitania was sunk. At that time it was rejected on the ground that the United States had no assurances that, pending an arbitral decision by The Hague court, to which Germany proposed to submit the dispute, Germany would not continue sinking merchant vessels without warning. Subsequently, however, Germany informed the United States that she had rescinded her former orders to submarine commanders and that henceforth the rules of international law requiring due warning and care for the safety of passengers and crews would be strictly lived up to.

DR. ANGELL IS BLIND

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 1.—Dr. James B. Angell, president emeritus of the University of Michigan, it was learned, has gone blind. He is confined to his bed and is reported to be in a weakened condition as a result of overwork. Attending physicians say Dr. Angell may recover his sight.

MISBRANDING GIVEN WHACK

Washington, Feb. 1.—A general blanket measure to prohibit misbranding of all articles entering interstate commerce not covered by the pure food and drug act and the insecticide act has been framed by a subcommittee of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, and soon will be presented to the house for consideration.

1000 PEOPLE FLEE

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 1.—The White river levee at Newport broke and flood waters now cover the town to a depth of from two to six feet. The break had been expected and 1,000 people had left the city. Those who remained had moved into the second stories of their homes.

BERLIN HUNGRY?

Amsterdam, Feb. 1.—Food riots have been resumed in Berlin, and in the latest clash six persons were killed and seven injured by troops who were called to suppress the disturbance.

Passes Civil Service Examination.
Columbus, Feb. 1.—Dr. William S. Hoy of Wellston, state representative, who worked during the last session of the legislature in an unsuccessful attempt to repeal the civil service law, has passed civil service examination for the position of chief medical examiner for the state industrial commission. He ranks fourth on the list.

His Own Attorney.
Cincinnati, Feb. 1.—R. B. H. Bear of Dayton conducted his own defense when taken before United States Commissioner Adler to answer the charge of having narcotic drugs in his possession. He was arrested at his home recently after, it is alleged, he had sold morphine to old soldiers. He was bound over to the grand jury under a $5,000 bond.

In Behalf of Creditors.
Cincinnati, Feb. 1.—Suit was filed by the government against Harmon Brothers, contractors, who were awarded the job of building the new postoffice at Portsmouth and went into bankruptcy before the completion of the work. The suit is filed in behalf of creditors of Harmon Brothers, who are seeking to recover from the trustees in bankruptcy and the Illinois Surety company, which went on the bond of the contractors. The suing creditors claim to have supplied labor and materials.

BUILDER OF PANAMA CANAL WILL EXPLAIN

WILL APPEAR BEFORE HOUSE COMMITTEE

Goethals Arrives From Canal Zone and Talks About Slides.

New York, Feb. 1.—Major George W. Goethals, governor of the canal zone, arrived here to appear before the house committee on appropriations. On the same steamer was Brigadier General Clarence Edwards, military governor of the zone.

Some comment was occasioned by the fact that both should leave the canal at the same time, giving rise to rumors that there had been friction between them. Both, however, denied this and General Edwards explained that he had been summoned home by the war department to attend a general council on defense—not on the canal zone alone, but of the country as a whole.

STRATEGY OF A SCOT.

Rule by Which the Laird o' Cockpen Came into His Own.

"Brose and Butter"—that is, porridge and butter—is an old Scotch tune of which Prince Charles, afterward Charles II., was very fond. The laird of Cockpen when Charles was at The Hague played the air for the prince the last thing at night and the first thing in the morning. On returning to Scotland after the restoration the laird found his estate had been forfeited for his attachment to the royal cause, and, sad to relate, Charles, forgetful of Cockpen's services, refused to interest himself in his faithful follower's petition to have it returned to him and even refused him an audience.

The laird, with the pertinacity of his race, resolved to achieve by stratagem

plained that he had been summoned home by the war department to attend a general council on defense—not on the canal zone alone, but of the country as a whole.

General Goethals said that there would be several millions of dollars left over from the canal appropriations, even after all the present dredging had been finished, and he assumed that this money would be turned into the improvement of the defenses. Military barracks and other essentials were insufficient, he said:

With regard to the canal slides, General Goethals said he was in favor of keeping the waterway closed until the mass of rocks at Gold Hill either found a resting place or the engineers were able to divert it. It consists of a ledge about 200 feet long, which began to move in November. At that time it was 625 feet above sea level, but it has slid down to an elevation of 475 feet. If it once finds its resting place, in the words of General Goethals, "the trouble with the canal will be over."

what he could not by direct appeal. While in London Cockpen formed an intimate acquaintanceship with the organist of the Chapel Royal and prevailed on him to allow him to act as his substitute at a service at which the king was to be present. Obtaining his consent, he played the regular tunes for the service. When dismissal time came he played the king's old favorite melody, "Brose and Butter."

On hearing it Charles wended his way to the organ gallery, where he found his quondam courtier, whom he greeted with a touch of the old familiarity, remarking, "You almost made me dance." Quick to seize the opportunity, the laird responded, "I could dance, too, if I had my lands back again." Charles' better nature awoke under the power of the music and the old memories it recalled, with the result that the laird received his own again.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Burial Customs of the Hittites.

Although the tombs of the necropolis had been rifled at an early date, a great deal that is new was learned about the burial customs of the Hittites. foot high was inclosed in a rooted vessel of cylindrical shape, which was beautifully decorated in patterns like those of Crete and Cyprus. Around the middle vessel were grouped various dishes containing burial gifts or oil, most of them plain, but some of beautiful shape and as thin as modern china, though unglazed. It can well be seen that these two vessels would protect the ashes from dampness from below, but as both were open at the top there was a large cover, like an enormous bowl, inverted over the other two vessels.—Christian Herald.

DELIVERING STRONG COUNTER ATTACKS AGAINST GERMANS

French Endeavoring to Recover Lost Ground.

ASSAILING GERMAN LINES

Teutons' Attempts to Follow Up Successes Gained the Last Two Days Blocked by the Enemy—Zeppelins Drop Bombs On English Coast, Doing but Little Damage—Allies Occupy Additional Greek Territory.

London, Feb. 1.—A fleet of six or seven Zeppelins passed over the eastern and northeastern midland counties, dropping a number of bombs. As far as could be learned very little damage was done and no injuries had been reported. The names of the towns affected by the raid have not been given out.

London, Feb. 1.—The French have defeated attempts by the Germans to follow up the successes they gained in the last two days in their new offensive on the western front.

The German war office statement claims no further gains. The ground won by the Teutons in their new onslaughts on the four geographically separated sections of the front, remain, however, firmly in their hands. The French during the last twenty-four hours launched determined counter attacks on the German lines in an effort to wrest back from the Teutons the lost ground, but in vain. Thus the new German western offensive appears to have been, for the immediate present at least, halted.

The Germans, however, keep hammering the French lines with unabated violence, and they seem bent upon adding to their gains at all cost. They made two attacks on the French lines in the Arras sector, southwest of Hill No. 140, near the Vimy heights, which command the important Arras-Lens road. Here they are endeavoring to push their front further ahead to improve their strategic position. The German official statement declares that "fighting actively has somewhat decreased," and ascribes this to the misty weather. This is taken to indicate that they will renew their general offensive as soon as the weather permits.

The occupation by the allies of the Burun peninsula, due south of Salonica, was prompted by the necessity to guard the allied transports in the Salonica waters. It was explained in a dispatch from the Greek front. Simultaneous with these explanations came a dispatch from Milan saying that the British also have occupied the Fort Kum Dale, opposite Kara Burun. The Greek garrison embarked, the dispatch says. The immediate cause for the landing at Kara Burun was the torpedoing of an allied mule transport by a German submarine, which had approached to within a few miles of the channels leading to the port of Salonica. The vessel was beached and part of the cargo was saved.

Five French aeroplanes engaged the Zeppelin which on Saturday night last dropped bombs on Paris, killing and wounding over two score of persons. They failed, however, to bring the Zeppelin to the ground.

Other junk collected and sold by Gross the past year were 50,000 old grain bags, 10,000 used automobile tires, 3,000 old rubber shoes, 3,000 pounds of brass, copper and other metals, 6,000 pounds of rags, 80,000 pounds of scrap iron, 2,000 pounds of green hides, 2,000 pounds of wool and 1,500 pounds of pelts.

BEAR CAUGHT IN CITY.

He Was Fine and Fat, and a Butcher Bought Him For $20.

Seattle, Wash.—A fat black bear weighing nearly 400 pounds was trapped and killed on the edge of the city limits, near Cowen park and about one and a half miles from the university.

The downfall of bruin was brought about by two unknown men who sold the bear while it was in the trap to A. Lampaert, a butcher of Redmond, for $20. According to the men who trapped the animal, it had established its headquarters on the hill near the Cowen park ravine and had apparently decided to spend the rest of the winter there.

The bear was in prime condition and had evidently found the back yards of Cowen park residents fine foraging grounds.

Brought In 165 Hides.

Twin Falls, Ida.—Twenty in the sum of $412.50 has been paid to Z. J. Lynch of Milner, who brought in the hides of 162 coyotes and three wildcats. All were trapped by Lynch in a little over two months' time.

ROMANCE OF THE BAHAMAS.

Life In Nassau Was Once a "Purple Princely Thing."

During the American war between the states Nassau of the Bahamas was very much on the tongues of men, as the devil-may-care emporium of contraband cotton, whereby hangs many a dashing sea story, some of which you can still hear from the lips of the men who took part in them.

The whole history of the Bahamas, since Columbus made his first landfall in the western seas on Watling's island, has been a fantastic record of desperate opportunism. The prose of "legitimate" business has seldom dulled the edge of precarious prosperity on these derelict islands, whose very existence still seems at the grudging mercy of the sea.

Buccaneering, wrecking and blockade running—no more tedious employ than these masculine professions occupied the Bahamians for generations, and so long as there were merchantmen to be boarded or scuttled, rich cargoes to be harvested from the white fanged reefs or cotton to be run to Wilmington at a profit of $100,000 the trip life in Nassau was a purple princely thing, and even the shoebucks in Bay street played pith and toss with gold.—Richard Le Gallienne in Harper's Magazine.

SUB SAFE

Missing Vessel Will Reach Florida Port This Evening—Particulars Lacking.

By Associated Press.
Washington, February 1.—The submarine K-5, which has been missing since Sunday, is safe, and proceeding to Key West, Florida, according to a message received by the Navy Department's wireless early today.
The message was from the torpedo boat destroyer Sterrett, which had been sent in search of the missing submarine.
Navy Department officials estimated that the K5 should reach Key West about 6 p. m., today.

UNIQUE DISPATCH BEARER TAKEN

By Associated Press.
Kiev, February 1. — Among German prisoners recently brought here were a number of men who called themselves "Dispatch Skaters." From them it was learned that a whole company of expert skaters had been equipped early in the winter to carry dispatches by short cuts across the lakes among which the Germans have taken up winter quarters in various sections of the front.
The organizer was said to be a man of the name of Wagner from Vienna, a prize skater and racer of local renown. The prisoners, including Wagner, were captured at Volni, near Valadimir, Volynsk.

NEW CANAL IS PLANNED

By Associated Press.
London, February 1. — A "Kiel Canal" for Great Britain, connecting the River Clyde, which flows into the Irish Sea, with the Firth of Forth on the North Sea side, was recently discussed before the Royal Colonial Institute as a necessary naval measure.
Such a canal would open up naval communications between the east and west coasts of Scotland, save warships from the danger of hostile submarines lurking among the numerous small uninhabited islands of the Scottish coast and put the great shipbuilding yards along the Clyde at the disposal of the North Sea Fleet.

TRICKY AND A BLUFFER.

The Spreading Adder Will Fool You if You Don't Know Him.
He's a sly creature, this snake.
When he's discovered and trapped he'll make such a hullabaloo about it, with his hissing and contortions, that if you're not wise to the fact that he's only bluffing you're sure to be frightened. If you're acquainted with him, however, and refuse to run, he'll give one final twist and roll over on his back, just as though he had made up his mind to die and save you the trouble of killing him. But don't be fooled. He's only playing possum. He's the spreading adder.
His tricks have resulted in all sorts of wild stories about him. Many people believe he's poisonous, because he spreads his head out flat and hisses when he's disturbed. As a matter of fact, he couldn't hurt you if you picked him up by the head. He's only bluffing when he hisses.
Then there's another story about the spreading adder to the effect that he will bite himself and fall over dead.
This belief comes from his habit of playing possum when he sees he's cornered and can't escape.
The spreading adder is about thirty inches long, a reddish brown and blotched and spotted. He lives in dry woods and on sandy hillsides and eats toads and insects. He's also called the blowing viper or the hogsnosed adder.—Philadelphia North American.

HAS TO SPLIT HIS TIPS.

Not All the Money the Waiter Gets Goes into His Pocket.
Don't think the waiters are getting rich. They might if they could keep all their tips, but—Comes a waiter of twenty years' service who says the man who does the serving is lucky if he gets 25 per cent of his tip money.
"We wouldn't complain much if we were allowed to keep our tips," he said,
"but the waiter is by necessity the best tipper in the world. He has to split his tips at least five ways. The head waiter gets his, the captain has his hand out, and the 'scrub' waiter and cook are next in line.
"If the waiter keeps all the money
the captain will soon get wise to him, and he will get no more 'live ones' steered up to his table. If the cook is neglected the waiter might get his orders cold from the kitchen. If he doesn't cross the palm of the head waiter with silver once in awhile he will be looking for another job.
"The popular idea that all waiters are rich is all wrong." The average waiter gets about $6 or $8 a week, and some of them get less. The man that leaves a quarter in the tray is really giving the waiter about 6 cents.—Chicago Tribune.

A Visit to Lincoln In Wartime

MAJOR GENERAL GREEN-VILLE M. DODGE, famed both as a commander in the civil war and as the chief engineer during the construction of the Union Pacific railroad, wrote for private circulation a book of personal remembrances of Lincoln, Grant and Sherman, each of whom he knew, the last two intimately. In the book General Dodge recounts a number of anecdotes of Lincoln not generally known.
He tells of a visit he paid to President Lincoln at the White House at a time when the chief executive was greatly worried over the command of the Union forces because he was receiving so many demands that Grant be relieved of the command. General Dodge writes:
"When I arrived at Washington and went to the White House to call on President Lincoln I met Senator Harlan of my state in the anteroom, and he took me in to see the president. It happened to be at the hour when the president was receiving the crowd in the antechamber next to his room. Senator Harlan took me up to him immediately and presented me to him. President Lincoln received me cordially and said he was very glad to see me. He asked me to sit down while he disposed of the crowd. I sat down and waited. I saw him take each person by the hand and in his kindly way dispose of them. To an outsider it would seem that they all got what they wanted, for they seemed to go away happy.
"I sat there for some time and felt that I was overstaying my time with him, so stepped up and said that I had merely called to pay my respects and that I had no business and so would say goodbye. President Lincoln turned to me and said: 'If you have the time I wish you would wait. I want to talk with you.'
"I sat down again and waited quietly until he had disposed of the crowd.
When he was through he took me into the next room. He saw that I was ill at ease, so he took down from his desk a little book called 'The Gospel of Peace.' I think it was written by Artemus Ward and was very humorous.
He opened the book, crossed his legs and began to read a portion of a chapter which was so humorous that I began to laugh, and it brought me to myself.
"When he saw that he had got me in his power he laid the book down and began to talk to me about my visit to the Army of the Potomac and what I saw. He did not say a single word about my own command or about the west, showing his whole interest was in the Army of the Potomac. While we were sitting there talking we were called to lunch.
"During the meal he talked about the Army of the Potomac and about Grant and finally led up to the place where he asked me the question of what I thought about Grant and what I thought about his next campaign.
"Just as he asked the question we got up from the table. I answered:
"Mr. President, you know we western men have the greatest confidence in General Grant. I have no doubt whatever that in this next campaign he will defeat Lee. How or when he is to do it I cannot tell, but I am sure of it."
"He shook my hand in both of his and very solemnly said, 'You don't know how glad I am to hear you say that.'
"I did not appreciate then what a great strain he was under—not until reading Welles' celebrated diary, showing that Lincoln had no person around him to advise him; that everything he did was from his own thoughts and decision.
It is a wonder to me that he ever got through the war so successfully. I did not know then that Lincoln's table was piled with letters demanding the change of Grant, declaring that his campaign was a failure and wanting to have a different commander sent, etc.
"When I was ready to leave I thanked President Lincoln for what he had done for me and asked if there was anything I could do for him. He said,
"If you don't care I would like to have you take my respects to your army."

HIS WHOLE INTEREST WAS IN THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

ONCE A SOVEREIGN STATE.

Now Noli is Simply a Fishing Village With a Past.
One of the oddest and quaintest little independent states that ever existed in Europe—the tiny republic of Noli, founded before Rome and maintaining its liberty for many centuries until Napoleon swept away its privileges—is today merely a fishing village near Genoa, but it is full of reminders of its former greatness and affords a wonderful glimpse of mediaeval times.
Destroyed by the Carthaginians in 217
B. C., and who knows how often by subsequent marauders, there seemed no limit to her powers of recovery.

This quaint little fishing village maintained itself as a sovereign state for centuries, took a prominent part in the quarrels of Guelphs and Ghibellines, sent doughty warriors to the Crusades, commanded the interest of emperors and popes and only succumbed at last to the armies of Napoleon. Dante climbered hither over terrible hills on hands and knees and revenged himself by consigning Noli to his "Purgatory."
Everybody is rich in this poor man's paradise, says the Wide World Magazine. During the anchovy months it is not rare for the 120 boats to earn $4,000 in a night, or $75,000 in a season.
Through fish alone a man earns far more than a clerk, besides which he has no "appearances" to keep up. Under these happy conditions he soon acquires land and houses, which afford a steady revenue while he sleeps or fishes. The earth here has only to be scratched in order to bring forth wealth, so rich is the soil and so abundant the water.

Coffin Pasties.

Mince pies now are generally round, but there was a time when they were of a long, coffin shape and were, in fact, often referred to as "coffin pasties." But this somewhat greswome name and shape do not appear to have detracted from their popularity.
Scogin, for instance, in the edition of his "Jests" published in 1626, is reported to have said on his deathbed,
"Masters, I tell you all that stand about mee, if I might live to eate a Christ-masse pyc I care not if I dye by and by after; for Christmasse pyes be good meat."—London Chronicle.

ENGRAVINGS ON OLD NUT.

Virginian Made the Pictures Years Ago, and Georgia Woman Has It.
Alpharetta, Ga.—Miss Mary Hook has a large hickory nut which has been a cherished possession of her family for six generations. It is covered with engravings made with a pocketknife in 1731.
The work was done by one of her ancestors, William Kendrick, a civil engineer and schoolteacher. The engravings are perfect pictures, although so small that the aid of a glass is required to see them.
In addition to the initials W. K. and the date 1731 the pictures are a hickory nut tree, a hog, a cormorant, a fox, an eagle and a squirrel with its tail curved over its back and a nut in its paws.
This was done in Virginia.

WANTS MOVABLE GUNS TO PROTECT US

Representative J. H. Capstick of New Jersey has introduced a coast defense bill asking $50,000,000 for largest guns and mortars, permanently mounted on especially constructed railroad cars, which, it is asserted, can be quickly transported to and securely locked upon previously constructed heavy concrete bases distributed on short spurs in railroad cuts behind hills. This new plan for national defense is the invention of Lawrence W. Luellen and Cecil F. Dawson, both of New York city.

Moslems Will Be Asked to Declare Whether or Not Their Undersea Craft Sent the Liner to the Bottom.

By Associated Press.
Washington, Feb. 1.—Secretary Lansing today announced a dispatch from Ambassador Penfield at Vienna, saying he had been informed by the foreign office that all Austrian submarines operating in the Mediterranean had reported that none of them was concerned in the sinking of the British liner Persia.

The secretary also announced that he was addressing for presentation to the Turkish government, an inquiry as to whether a Turkish submarine was responsible for the sinking of the Persia.

WILSON SWINGS ON TOUR

By Associated Press.
Chicago, February 1.—President Wilson left Chicago at 10:01 o'clock this morning to continue his speaking tour of the Middle West.

He said he felt full of energy and much invigorated.

Stops at Joliet, Ottawa, Moline and Rock Island, Ill., were added today to the President's itinerary. Platform speeches were scheduled for each stop.

Ottawa, Ill., February 1.—President Wilson's revised schedule of short talks from the rear platform of his car was changed again today to eliminate the five-minute addresses at this city and at Moline.

Instead of the addresses, it was decided that his train should stop only two minutes at each place, and that the Presidents should only greet the crowd.

The throngs that have welcomed the President at nearly all of the stops he has made, were in evidence here, where the President was welcomed by a crowd of several thousand, among whom school children with waving flags were conspicuous.

Zeppelin Raid on England Last Night Characterized as Devoid of Results—London Escapes.

By Associated Press.
London, February 1.—Official denial was made here today of reports attributed to German sources that England intends to abandon her allies and has made peace overtures to Germany.

Last night's Zeppelin raid on England apparently was not directed at London, the comment that has come through concerning it indicating that the course of the raiders was more to the north; possibly taking in the great manufacturing center of Manchester, and apparently being intended to damage or destroy munitions factories. No details of the damage have been received.

Naval and aerial activities overshadow for the moment interest in land operations, regarding which important developments are lacking for the most part.

The situation at Erzerum, according to reports, is more serious for the Turks than previous advices have indicated.

There are said to be eighty thousand men under Field Marshal von der Goltz locked up in the city with only two weeks' provisions on hand.

London, February 1.—Fifty-four persons were killed and sixty seven injured in last night's Zeppelin raid according to an official announcement today.

The statement says bombs were dropped on several towns in rural districts.

MURDER OF 4 IS CHARGED TO MAN ARRESTED

Albany, N. Y., February 1.—The police were notified today of the arrest in Schenectady, in connection with the search for the mysterious gunman who shot four persons here last Friday, of a man calling himself George Beverly.

According to police information, a 22 calibre rifle, equipped with a silencing device, was found in his room.

cluding the cordon of British cruisers across the Atlantic and adding to the historic chapter of German exploits at sea.

There are 451 persons aboard the ship, including 138 survivors of seven ships sunk by the raider which captured the Appam; 20 German civilians, being transported from Africa to England to be placed in detention camps; 155 members of the Appam's crew; 116 original passengers on the Appam, and the prize crew of 22.

Many of the passengers are women and children. There are also several high British colonial officials who were returning to England from Africa.

There are also four wounded sailors, taken from one of the sunken ships which resisted capture and was shelled.

According to information gleaned from those who talked with Lieutenant Berg, the Appam was captured without any show of resistance on January 15, the day that British news reports said wireless communication with the vessel suddenly ceased.

A prize crew was placed on board, and the same day the raider which captured the Appam gave chase to another British steamer bound for Australia with a cargo of meat.

This ship gave battle, and was captured and sunk after a large portion of her cargo had been taken off.

Six more vessels were then destroyed in rapid succession, it was stated. The crews were taken on board the Appam, which ran due west across the Atlantic for Hampton Roads.

Capture Adds Brilliant Chapter to German Marine Exploits—Passengers include High British Officials—Raiders Captured and Sunk Six Other Vessels in Succession.

By Associated Press.

Newport News, Va., February 1.—

The British South African liner Appam, given up for lost, was brought into Hampton Roads this morning, flying the German man-of-war flag, with a German prize crew of 22 men commanded by Lieutenant Berg.

She was captured at sea January 15, four days after she left Dakar, in British West Africa.

The Appam was captured off the Canary Islands January 15 by a German submarine, which a few hours before had sunk a British steamer.

The Appam brought her original passengers and 138 persons said to have been taken from other vessels by the Germans.

Four injured passengers on board are said to have been taken from an English ship from Australia.

While Lieutenant Berg came ashore to pay his respects to Colonel Haynes, commandant at Fort Monroe, quarantine officers boarded the ship. Meanwhile, no one was permitted to come ashore.

The vessel came into port under the name H. M. S. Appam (His Majesty's Ship Appam), thereby indicating that the Germans may contend that the vessel is a German auxiliary cruiser.

This theory is also strengthened by the fact that the Appam flew the German man-of-war flag, and not the flag of the German merchant marine or the British flag, as she entered port.

The Appam has one three-inch gun mounted aboard. When the submarine sent a shot across the Appam's bows, she immediately halted on account of the large number of passengers she carried.

Lieutenant Berg, of the German navy, placed on the Appam when she was captured, brought in the prize,

SPEAKS IN NORTHWEST

Assures Audiences That He Is Not Upon Present Errand Because of Any Sudden Crisis—Denies Charge That Preparedness Propaganda Is Inspired by Munition Makers—Essence of President's Remarks.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—In his speeches in Illinois and Wisconsin, President Wilson assured American citizens of foreign birth that he had no doubt of their loyalty to the flag.

The president's declaration of confidence that "the trouble makers have shot their bolt and it has been ineffectual," was made in a speech before an audience of 9,000 persons, many of them of German birth or extraction, at Milwaukee.

In Chicago and Milwaukee, the nerve centers of "hyphenism" in the west, his speeches were more pacific than at Cleveland and Pittsburgh. Milwaukee people turned out in great numbers to do the president honor, and seemed intent in advance to justify the confidence which he expressed in their unity of spirit. It was noted, however, that the heaviest applause greeted his declaration that what the country is counting upon him most of all to do is to keep it out of war, and not his complimentary assertions regarding their loyalty. In this city the president spoke to many thousands in the Chicago auditorium.

Second only in importance to the president's declaration that the danger of domestic disunion is passed was his carefully emphasized assertion that the errand which has brought him on this stupping tour does not result from anything new that has happened in our international relations.

"I want at the outset to remove any misapprehensions that may exist in your minds," said the president. "There is no sudden crisis; nothing new has happened; I am not upon this errand because of any sudden unexpected situation. I have come to confer with you upon a matter which it would in any circumstance be necessary to confer upon when all the world is on fire and your own house is not fire-proof."

In the Milwaukee speech the president reiterated the substance of his speech at Racine, in which he committed himself to plans for the government manufacture of armor plate and munitions of war. This would enable the government to control the price of what it buys, he said. He repudiated vigorously the charge that the preparedness propaganda is inspired by the interests which would profit from any enlarged army and navy.

Not Money-Making Agitation.

"Let no one suppose that this is a money-making agitation," he said. "I would for one be ashamed to be such a dupe as to be engaged in it if it had any suspicion of that about it. But I am not as innocent as I look, and I believe I can say for my colleagues in Washington that they are just as watchful in such matters as I would desire them to be."

saying that our coast defenses are of the finest in the world, although unadvertised, and that our navy is second to none in quality. But the navy is fourth in size among the navies of the world, he said, and told this story: "The Lord said unto Moses, come forth, and he came fifth and lost the race."

In his Chicago speech the president said that, if called upon, the American navy was ready for immediate service in war. He declared that the European war was brought on by rulers and not by peoples, and that he thanked God there is no ruler in America who has a right to bring on war without the consent of the people. The president defended vigorously the international policy of his administration since the outbreak of the war. "I believe we can serve the nations at war better by remaining at peace," he declared. "Somebody must keep the processes of peace alive, somebody must help repair the great losses of the war."

Mr. Wilson renewed the warnings of his previous speeches as to the dangers which face America, largely for the purpose of emphasizing the danger of too much partisan sympathy for the belligerents among our citizens. His arguments against divided loyalty were carefully couched generalities, and he seemed to be intent upon driving home his arguments without injuring the feelings of anyone among his hearers.

The president indicated clearly that he has no hope that the good offices of the United States will be utilized in bringing about peace. He said opinions did not create the war and that opinions will not stop it.

GOVERNORS SPEAK ON M'KINLEY DAY

Youngstown, O., Feb. 1.—Governors Frank B. Willis of Ohio and Charles S. Whitman of New York met at a McKinley day dinner given by the Mahoning Valley McKinley club. Both made addresses. Ohio's governor discussed economics effected by his administration. New York's executive referred to the fact that he was born at Canfield, a village near Youngstown. Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland, candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination, also was on the program.

Governor Willis made it clear that an important issue, to be discussed in his future campaign speeches, will be money saved by departments in his administration.

FOR ARMY OF 150,000

Washington, Feb. 1.—Major General Miles, retired, was before the senate committee on military affairs to talk on preparedness. He advocated a regular army of 150,000 with skeleton regiments to be recruited to a maximum or war footing in case of threatened hostilities. General Miles did not share the fears of General Wood that the foreign foe might invade the United States successfully. He said the patriotism of the people might be relied upon to repulse an invasion before reinforcements arrived. He said a standing army could be organized with a strength of 1,000 to a regiment while the country was on a peace basis, with power to expand when danger threatened. He believed an army of 400,000 could easily be raised by expansion.

Vadeboncoeur received the pastry by parcel post in Woonsocket, sharing it with his friends. He died in great agony, evidently from metallic poison. Cassavant, in eating a greater part of the pastry, got an overdose and escaped death, although he was dangerously ill.

REBELLION IN CHINA GROWS

Pekin, Feb. 1.—The province of Kwel-Chow, adjoining Yunnan on the east, is now in full rebellion. The governor fled on January 16. All communications have been interrupted. It is reported that 12,000 revolutionists from this province, in company with Yunnanese rebels, are marching of Chung-King, where the main garrison of government troops are located. The American gunboat Monocacy is stationed at this point on the Yangtze Kiang river, and the commander has notified Dr. Reinsch, the American minister in Peking, that a zone has been outlined in which he will protect foreigners threatened by the fighting. Luchow and Tse-Lientsing are said to have fallen to the rebel forces. A large force of revolutionists is said to be marching on Peking.

Cleveland, Feb. 1.—Myron T. Herrick announces that he will not be a candidate for delegate-at-large to the national Republican convention. He does not think it wise to remain a candidate for delegate after he has become a candidate for United States senator, for the reason that it might be thought he was asking too many honors of the party when there are many other Republicans who would greatly appreciate the honor of representing the Buckeye state at Chicago.

M'CUMBER PROPOSAL LOST

Chairman Kitchin Not to Oppose Bill of Congress.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The amendment to the Philippine bill, offered by Mr. McCumber, which would withhold independence from the Filipinos unless the powers agreed to respect their sovereignty, was defeated in the senate without a rollcall. The senate agreed to hurry the bill to a vote by extending daily sessions and recessing instead of adjourning, so that all other business would be shut out until it is disposed of.

Senator Clapp of Minnesota declared during the debate that he believed the Filipinos were ready for their independence at once. "There is a menace in holding the islands," he continued, "but it is a menace to the Filipinos themselves."

Senator Sutherland disagreed as to the readiness of the islands for independence, declaring that to relinquish them now would be "a cowardly act." Secretary McAdoo and Democratic Leader Kitchin discussed the administration bill to create a tariff commission, which soon will be introduced in the house with President Wilson's backing.

It was agreed that Mr. Kitchin will not lead the fight for the bill, as he does not agree with the tariff commission idea, but he will not oppose it. The bill will be steered through the house by Representative Rainey, who ranks next to Kitchin on the ways and means committee.

Some administration leaders have been of the opinion that the bill should not provide for a tariff commission with power to revise schedules, but for a board somewhat similar to the old tariff board, which investigated the cost of production here and abroad and acted as a sort of auxiliary to congress in collecting tariff statistics. Mr. Kitchin is anxious to have the law contain a provision that the commission report to congress and not to the executive branch of the government.

which he tells of the political battles he has fought for Willis, pointing out that after all these, the governor has left him out in the cold because of bad advice.

Heavy political pressure may be brought to bear upon the board of administration to make spoils out of the positions at the eighteen state institutions under its control. Heretofore this has been prevented only by the fact that the board was equally divided between the old and new administrations.

TO STOP RUSH OF ALIENS

Washington, Feb. 1.—The Burnett immigration bill embodying a provision designed to restrict the incoming flood of undesirable aliens from Europe expected after the war was reported to the house. The committee, according to the report of Chairman Burnett, expresses the conviction that this flood may be checked by the illiteracy test and the imposition of higher penalties upon steamship companies. The bill contains a provision for excluding aliens of "constitutional psychopathic inferiority." This term is defined in the report as "a congenital defect in the emotional or volitional fields of mental activity, which results in inability to make proper adjustment to the environments."

A New Plan

Mayor Oster, in passing sentence upon three individuals who had fractured the laws of the state and the ordinances of the city, assessed fines in each instance.

In these particular cases though there was a new wrinkle added. Instead of the usual "stand committed to the work-house until the fine and costs are paid" which has so long been the concluding paragraph in Mayor's court sentences, Mayor Oster stated that the amount of the fine and costs must be worked out on the streets of the city under the directions of the Safety-Service director.

Each one of the offenders was ordered to report for work and stated that he was glad of the chance.

Half of the money earned is to go to the culprit for the support of his family and the other half to the city in satisfaction of his fine.

That seems to be an excellent arrangement all around. Instead of giving the Xenia, Columbus, or Cincinnati work-house authorities the benefit of the fine assessed and in some instances paying for his "keep" the offender goes to work on the streets and alleys, the city of Washington and the family receive the benefit of the labor performed. The fine is paid and at the same time the money received in satisfaction of the fine is judiciously expended on public work.

There seems now no reason why that plan should not work out splendidly.

Then too, it's an honor system. No chain gang features. The man is free to come or go as he pleases but if he goes he must keep on going.

In either event the city wins.

Chicago's Way

Chicago is certainly in the limelight as furnishing unusual happenings.

Of course Chicago is a great city and consequently a great source of news. The metropolis of the west, however, has not entirely shaken off all the new town symptoms and the big news stories that come out of Chicago are a mixture of the metropolitan life and the frontier country.

Of late there have been several spectacular robberies and hold-ups in Chicago, regular wild west style. That was strange enough.

As a sequel now to these unusual happenings the news comes from the big city by Lake Michigan that the police were in on a plan which resulted in the lawless outbreaks.

In order to discredit the present city administration some of the police cliques imported expert gunmen and hold-up artists and the extent and brilliancy of their operations amazed even those who had brought them to the city.

The result is a free confession all around.

That's a typical Chicago way. A way which no other city in this or any other land can boast of or apologize for, as the results demand.

Raid On Paris

The promised raid on Paris by the German Zeppelin fleet occurred Saturday night. Paris has been prepared for some time for the coming of the air raiders and the first word from the outskirts that the big dirigibles were on their way to Paris roused the inhabitants and the defenders of the gay city to action. All the lights of the great city on the Seine were extinguished, even those in the private residences were reduced to the absolute minimum and heavy blinds were drawn to prevent the rays shining out into the darkness.

Gay Paris became, in a few minutes, as silent and as dark as the tomb. From various sections of the city the aeroplane fleet spread its monster wings and whirled aloft to attack the invaders. Each detachment of the army of defenders sought its proper level in the higher air and search lights crossed rays sending their broad white glare to every corner of the darkened heavens.

The invaders reached only the outskirts of the great city and then turned back.

The time of the raid was well chosen—a dense fog operating to hinder the defenders and to aid the attacking party.

The invaders driven off, Paris returned to streets, the shops and cafes. As a military measure the raid was a failure.

A few noncombatants were killed and mangled, some property destroyed, but the effect on the war campaigns was, like all the balance of these raids—nil.

Poetry For Today

OUR TRULY PERFECT THAW.

Chant a paean, if you will,
To the winter's soul,
To the wizardry and skill
Of the frosty scroll.
Lilt the loveliness of May,
Joys that it foretells,
To a June's contented day
Ring the wedding bells.
In a deeper, fuller strain,
As the year grows old,
Sing the song of ripening grain
To a tune of gold.
When the autumn's pageant flings
Splendor wide and far
Let your chorus mount on wings
To the highest star.
And when faded fields and sere
All the vision dim,
To the passing of the year
Hum a farewell hymn.
But if on a new one you
Would warble acclaiming,
Warble forth a lyric to
This theme without a flaw,
This sunshine-painted domed-in-blue
This January Thaw.

GEM IN CHICKEN'S CRAW.

Colwyn (Pa.) Woman Found There a Diamond Worth More Than $100.

Colwyn, Pa.—Whether there is a diamond mine in Philadelphia or in Delaware county Mrs. Otto Woerner of 50 South Third street, Colwyn, is not sure, but she does know that the chicken that she recently purchased from a Baltimore avenue (East Lansdowne) dealer was a most valuable bird and incidentally proved the best investment she ever made.

When Mrs. Woerner opened the chicken and cut open its craw she saw something sparkle and on closer examination was surprised and delighted to find that it was a pure blue-white diamond of the first water.

Having it appraised by an expert, she was told that it was worth considerably more than $100. Since the announcement of this discovery was made the dealer has had a run on chickens.

CZAR OF RUSSIA IS AN ACTIVE RULER

Rises Early and Puts In Twelve Hours of Work.

MEALTIME IS MADE MERRY.

All Governmental Affairs Are Tabooed When Royal Family Is Eating, and Time Is Passed In a Jovial Manner. Always Prays Before Retiring After Strenuous Day.

Petrograd.—The czar of Russia, to whom few Americans have had the opportunity of speaking save diplomats, is one of the busiest rulers in Europe.

He rises at 7 o'clock after about seven hours of sleep and then puts in ten or twelve hours of work, and no fewer than four hours of these are spent alone. About six hours are given to meals and relaxation with the family. No governmental affairs are allowed to be discussed during mealtime, and the czar, zarina and the children indulge in merry talk.

Before 9 the czar has finished his modest breakfast and begun his daily work. He reads the newspapers, telegrams and other information presented to him and makes a note of all interesting matter. The time from 10 to 11 o'clock is assigned to walking, but nearly always from 10 to half past 10 o'clock he receives the reports of the officials of his household or gives special audiences to dignitaries or men who interest him, and only during the time until 11 o'clock does he walk alone or with his son, accompanied by two Scotch hounds. At 11 o'clock he returns to the palace and tests the food of his infantry regiment or of his bodyguard. A sample of the soldiers' food in a locked stevedore is brought to him by the chief noncommissioned officer of the regiment. After the test of the food the reports of the ministers begin, lasting until luncheon.

The luncheon is informal. There he meets his family for the first time in the day. Sometimes the officers of the suit on duty that day are invited. After luncheon the emperor receives officials and deputies, and from 4 to 5 o'clock he walks, drives, rides on a bicycle or canoes and goes boating with his son or with his daughters and the empress. From 6 to 8 o'clock he works again in his study. From 8 to half past 9 he dines with his family, and from that time to 12 or half past he works again. He never rests during the day, yet keeps cheerful and unweary. Sometimes, when he finishes his task earlier than usual, he reads to the empress at her evening tea. Before going to bed he prays.

On the eve of holy days the czar goes to the evening church services at half past 7 o'clock, and on holy days he goes to mass at 11. The rest of the time on holy days he works as on week days.

Possessing an excellent memory and a clear method of thinking, the czar writes in a clear hand, quickly and without erasures. His thoughts are expressed simply and briefly; he does not like long phrases and foreign words.

The czar receives thousands of persons during the course of a year. His speeches to deputations are always short, simple and hearty. "I never prepare my speeches in advance," said he, "but after a prayer to God I speak as it comes."

At the greater part of receptions the visitors stand, but venerable persons are invited to his study to sit down. After audiences in Tsaritsa Selo and Peterhof the visitors are treated to luncheon. The ministers have special days for their reports, the duration of each being fixed in advance. The audiences of private persons with the emperor ordinarily last from three to four minutes.

The private charity of the emperor is extensive. He gives not only by hundreds, but by thousands of rubles.

The difficult work of the government the czar does alone—he has no private secretaries. He has some help from the officials of his household and the officers of his suit.

MULES CHEW TOBACCO.

Those Used in a Mine Will Resort to Tricks to Get the Weed.

Nevada City, Cal.—The miners at the Champion mine in this city have taught the mules that haul the ore cars hundreds of feet below the surface to chew tobacco, and these animals are regular fiends after the weed.

Some of the miners whose work throws them more in contact with the mules than the others say that the mules will resort to tricks in order to get tobacco and that one instance is recorded where a miner had his pants torn by a mule who observed where the tobacco plug was placed in the man's pockets and attempted to pull it out through the cloth.

Recently when a mule from the Champion mine was lost it was finally captured through the lure of chewing tobacco. It would not permit any one to come near it on the road, although ordinarily it was very docile. When Foreman Thomas Gill approached the animal with a piece of tobacco in his hand the old mule quietly flapped his long ears and came forward and permitted himself to be led gently home.

CONFESSES OLD CRIME.

Killed Soldier Near Manila in 1903. Hasn't Had Luck Since.

San Francisco.—Confessing that he had killed his tentmate near Manila over twelve years ago and that he wished now to surrender and atone for his crime, W. A. Ojeda, an ex-soldier, gave himself up to the police.

Ojeda says the man he killed was George D. Miller, who enlisted in the army from Omaha under the name of George Moore, and that the crime occurred in the camp about four miles out of Manila, during the night of June 27, 1903. He declared he shot him for self protection.

"I have never had any luck since then," he continued, "and, although I have married and raised three children, everything has gone wrong. I want to square myself on this thing and then start over again."

Ojeda says his family is now at Cedar Hill, Tex. He claims to have been raised at Hollister, Cal.

SHE KNEW AMOS.

And Evidently Amos Was Fairly Well Acquainted With Her.

The man who takes trolley rides through the country, says a writer in the Boston Advertiser, sees and hears much that is amusing. On one occasion, while I was riding through the outskirts of Amesbury, an old lady—but a decidedly spry one—hailed the car. She was accompanied down to the road from the house by a young woman, possibly her daughter. The elder woman put her foot on the lower running board, grasped the upright and was about to climb into the car when she turned to the young woman and said:

"Don't forget that gingerbread in the oven, Liza. You know pa just hates burnt gingerbread."

"All aboard!" shouted the conductor. But the old lady paid no attention to him.

"And, Liza," she continued, "when you pick up the eggs, bimbley, look out for that Rhode Island Red that wants to set. She'll peck you if you ain't careful."

"All aboard!" again shouted the conductor, but as the old lady proceeded to climb on to the car she paused long enough to say to him: "Ye can't scare me, Amos. I've known ye ever since ye was knee high."

Amos grinned, pulled the bell, and we were on our way.

Lost His Bearings.

It was an English skipper of the olden time who, having knowledge beyond the seeming needs, as he could read and use the charts, was dispatched to Rotterdam. The skipper had never been to Rotterdam before, so after getting over the bar and well away to the east he produced his charts and made a learned inspection, but the charts had been a long time in the locker and circumstances combined to alarm him extremely. He went up on deck and called to his mate, "Put her about; the rats have eaten Holland!"

GREAT SALT LAKE.

Its Water Is Saline Simply Because It Has No Outlet.

Great Salt lake has no outlet. The Jordan river, which enters it from the south, is the outlet of Utah lake. Bear river, coming from the north, carries the outflow from Bear lake. The waters of Utah and Bear lakes and of Jordan and Bear rivers are fresh, and so is the water of Weber river, the third great tributary of Great Salt lake, but the lake into which the three rivers flow is saline. It is saline because it has no outlet.

The fresh waters of the rivers contain some saline matter, but the quantity is too small to be discovered by taste.

As stated by the chemist, in parts per million, the quantity seems minute, but when account is taken of the total volume of water brought by the streams to the lake in a year their burden of saline matter is found to be really great, amounting annually to more than 500,000 tons.

Year by year and century by century the water which they pour into the lake is evaporated, but the dissolved solids cannot escape in that way and therefore remain.

They have accumulated until the lake water is approximately saturated, holding nearly as much mineral matter as it can retain in solution. The lake contains over 5,000,000,000 tons of common salt and 900,000,000 tons of glauber salt (sodium sulphate) as well as other mineral matter.

$100,000,000 Better

YOU think of the Baltimore & Ohio System in terms of the past—as a great scenic and historical route—as America's first railway—should know it today. In past four years $100,000,000 have been used to improve the roadbed to straighten curves, to add new tracks, to better the equipment. Millions have been spent for coaches and engines of the all-steel, electric lighted trains, with an excellent dining car service. All the attractions of Nature which made it "the scenic route of Eastern America" are still here for you—but we have made them $100,000,000 better. You can not ride in better trains, over a finer roadbed anywhere.

TWO MILES OF MAIN ROADS WILL BE PAVED THIS YEAR

Does Not Include Contracts Already Let—Property Owners on Main Highways Near This City Anxious to Obtain Paving—County Can Build Approximately Two Miles of Brick Roads Each Year Under State Aid.

Residents along the main thoroughfares near this city are becoming much interested in obtaining construction of brick roadway, and a delegation of property owners appeared before the county commissioners Monday, seeking to obtain a further extension of the brick paving on the Leesburg pike, where the next to the longest stretch of brick highway in the county is now located, the longest piece of brick paving being on the Bloomingburg and Sedalia pike, where the paving and contract for additional paving extend a distance of nearly four miles.

Petitions have been filed with the commissioners during the past few years, for the paving of nearly all of the main pikes near this city, and this year there can be built in this county under the state aid plan, some two miles of brick highways, and it is believed that this will be constructed upon two of the main arteries leading into the city, so that it may do the largest number of people the most good.

Each year the state will have enough funds available for about two miles of brick highway for Fayette county, paying one-half, the county paying 25 per cent, township 15 per cent and the property owners 10 per cent.

The indications are that a lively contest will develop between the property owners along the various main highways, in an effort to obtain the brick paving as soon as possible.

The amount to be paid by the county will not include any part of the two mill levy fund, which will be expended for the improvement and rebuilding of roads by macadamizing.

So far the amount of roadway rebuilt with macadam under the state aid plan consists of some four miles on the Devalon road, while the amount of paved roads built and now under contract is between six and seven miles, and an additional two miles will probably be added during the present year.

The commissioners will decide in the near future which road or roads will be improved under the state aid plan this year.

BIDS OPENED ON BIG ISSUE OF CITY BONDS

Tuesday afternoon the Finance Committee of council, City Auditor McFadden and Solicitor Gregg opened bids received for some $38,940 in street improvement bonds, and the highest bidder was the A. E. Aub & Company, of Cincinnati, who bid par, accrued interest to date of delivery and a premium of $2079.

The bonds in question were divided up as follows: City's portion of Paint street and Columbus avenue, $30,000; Special assessment bonds on West Court street, $7,380; Special Assessment Craig-Penn alley, $660.

In addition to the bid of Aub & company, the following bids were received.

Breed, Elliott & Harrison, Cincinnati, $2,096.57.
Stacy Brown Company, Toledo, $2079.

Sidney Spitzer & Co., Toledo, $2,037.

Well Roth & Co., Cincinnati, $2,046.50.

Tillotson-Wolcott Company, Cleveland, $2000.93.

Security Savings Bank & Trust Co., Toledo, $1929.30.

Field Richards & Company, Cincinnati, $1815.

Fifth-Third National Bank of Cincinnati, $1219.80.

NOTABLES WILL ATTEND BANQUET

A number of widely known Ohioans will attend the annual banquet of the Fish & Game Society in this city Wednesday night, and a most enjoyable evening is anticipated.

Gen. John C. Speaks, Chief Game Warden, will be among those attending.

Mr. J. W. Kirgan, member of the State Board of Agriculture, of Akron, and Geo. G. Tinkham, president of the Columbus Fish & Game Association and expert bait caster, who attended the picnic of the Association last summer, will be present.

Also J. F. Atwood, prominent Columbus attorney, and Secretary of the Ohio Sportsmen League. Several Columbus citizens not included in the above list, also are expected.

TO PAY FINE, MEN ARE NOW AT WORK

Three men who Saturday morning were fined various sums upon various charges and ordered to report to Service-Safety Director Hillery to go to work on sewer or street work, reported for duty Monday noon and started in to pay off their fines.

Of the $1.50 allowed the men for each day they work, 75 cents goes to support them and the additional 75 cents applies on their respective fines.

The plan is working so well that the next persons who face His Honor and cannot pay, will be given a job with the pick and shovel.

MAY DECIDE CASE LATE THIS WEEK

So far the briefs and exhibits in the case of R. C. Hunt against the City of Washington and the Washington Gas and Electric Company have not reached Judge Newby, who will decide the case.

It is expected that the briefs and exhibits will reach the Judge Wednesday, and that he will decide the case late this week.

A telephone conversation with Judge Newby this week elicited the statement that his decision in the case would be given just as soon as the briefs and exhibits were carefully examined.

The rotation wizard pool tournament at the Oak Pool Room was launched Monday, by Messrs. Cosano and Stewart, and a number of good scores were made. The tournament will continue throughout the week.

The 15 high scores of Monday were:

E. Ford, 65; R. Elliott, 59; J. Donahoe, 56; C. L. Craig, 51; J. Williams, 48; Bill Minturn, 45; J. Leland, 44; L. Coyle, 40; R. Maddox, 39; R. Judy, 39; W. Sheridan, 38; W. Wornecke, 33; M. Shipley, 32; A. Maddox, 29; A. Snyder, 25.

PROTEST MADE AGAINST WAGONS

Protest by one of the property owners has been made over the locating of the "express" wagons on Market street, immediately east of the Fayette street intersection, and as a result the wagons were moved temporarily back to the corner of Court and Main streets until the matter could be settled.

The express wagon drivers beat a hasty retreat when threatened by the enraged property owner, appealing to the Mayor for protection if they were moved to the new location.

STRONG HILLSBORO TEAM IS BOOKED

The representative "Y" team is looking forward to another victory Thursday night of this week, but which cannot be won without some hard individual playing and good team work.

The event will be a clash between Hillsboro and the "Y" team, and as both the local team and the Hillsboro aggregations have defeated Jamestown, there is an additional reason why the local boys are anxious to defeat the Highland countians.

S. S. LEAGUE GAMES AT 7:30 TONIGHT

The teams of the Sunday School Basket Ball League, and their scores of rooters, are looking forward to two of the fastest games of the series tonight at 7:30.

The Presbyterians and the Kappa Sigmas meet the Baptists. Some hard practice work has been taking place among the various teams, it is understood, and the result is expected to be manifest when the opponents take the floor tonight.

No admission will be charged. The public is invited.

FREEZING WEATHER LOWERS THE CREEKS

The freeze of Monday night did much toward reducing the swollen streams throughout the county, and the creeks, which Monday threatened to reach flood stage had withdrawn to their main channels in most places Tuesday morning.

The freeze also did much toward taking the water from the public highways, and placing the roads in better condition to travel than they were Monday.

MAY SUE DEWITT ON $1000 BOND

Mayor Oster Tuesday afternoon instructed Solicitor Gregg to bring suit against Allie DeWitt to recover $1,000 on a collateral bond which DeWitt filed with Mayor Coffey in July, 1915, as a guarantee that he would sell no more liquor.

It is alleged DeWitt has forfeited the bond.

NEW WHITE OAK CHURCH WILL COST $10,000.00

At a meeting of the trustees of White Oak M. P. church, Monday, it was decided to erect a handsome $10,000 brick edifice to take the place of the one recently destroyed by fire.

Insurance to the extent of nearly $3,000 has been collected, and Mr. Wilbur F. Collins, well known public spirited citizen, has volunteered to give $2,000 providing the remainder of the $10,000 be subscribed.

The trustees are now at work obtaining subscriptions and expect to speedily complete their canvass. Rev. Harper is pastor of the church, which has a strong membership and the church site is a beautiful one.

Mr. Collins recently donated four acres to the church for burial purposes.

PERILOUS ATHLETICS.

Sport That Wrecks the Heart an Evil to Be Avoided.

"No one will gainsay the value and pleasure of outdoor exercise graduated to suit the needs of every individual throughout life," says the Journal of the American Medical Association, "but the species of overdoing called for in the intense competition of the great contests of our schools and colleges can no longer be defended by platitudes regarding the alleged psychological value of its competitive features. The time has come when statistics regarding latent athletic injuries must be reckoned with and the lives of our youths safeguarded by making a distinction between sane sport and in sane participation in the intolerable strain of competitive games of the extreme type."

The same paper says the authorities of colleges need to be reminded in an emphatic way, in the words of Dr. R. N. Wilson of Philadelphia, that "no form of athletic event is sane that demands of the participants the semi-conscious state of heart exhaustion at conclusion."

And it denounces the daredevil form of "sport" that depend for their on nearest possible approach to death by the actors in them, such, for example, as "looping the loop" in an airplane or driving a motorcar a hundred miles an hour. Such, it says, are sport, but degeneracy.

A Strange Situation.

"Humor is a very funny thing," said Binks.

"It ought to be," said the philosopher. "Oh, I don't mean that way," said Binks. "I mean that it is a strange thing. Now, I can't speak French, but I can always understand a French joke, and I can speak English, but I can't understand an English joke." "Most people are," said the philosopher.

"Are what?" said Binks. "Blessed if they can see an English joke," said the philosopher. "It is a sign of an unusually keen vision."

Force of the Imagination.

There is a story of a man who was tied up in a dark room and informed that he was to be put to death by bleeding. His tormentors made a small incision in his neck and arranged for a stream of lukewarm water to trickle down his back for fifteen minutes. At the end of fifteen minutes the man died of exhaustion. He had lost a drop of blood, but he thought he had. Such is the power of suggestion.—London Saturday Review.

FIRE CHIEF ASKS CITY SOLICITOR TO FILE SUIT

Changes at Engine House to Accommodate Mayor's Office and Council Chambers is the Cause—Misappropriation of Property and Unlawful Expenditure of Money Are Alleged.

G. M. Paul, chief of the Washington Fire Department, Monday afternoon presented a written application to City Solicitor Gregg requesting him to bring suit to prevent the use of the city Engine House for Mayor's office and council chambers, as planned by Mayor Oster.

The application, or demand, was made by Mr. Paul as a taxpayer and signed by him as chief of the fire department.

Grounds for the action demanded were alleged misappropriation of property and the alleged unlawful expenditure of money for making certain changes in the engine house to accommodate the mayor's office and council chambers.

Solicitor Gregg refused to comply with the request of Mr. Paul, and signed a refusal to that effect. He bases his refusal on his belief that the action demanded is without just grounds and that there is nothing to prevent the carrying out of the changes contemplated and under way holding that the Engine House is city property and should be utilized for city purposes.

It is understood that the action demanded by Mr. Paul is based on the belief that when the city ordered the building of the engine house that it was to be utilized by the fire department alone, and that the changes contemplated and under way would disturb the firemen and render their quarters less desirable, and that the expenditure necessary to make the changes is without authority.

It is understood that Mr. Paul previously had retained Attorney Logan to represent him in action against the city.

Meanwhile the work of making the changes is moving forward quietly, the radiators having been installed and the work of plastering started so that if the work is not stopped by injunction proceedings, it will be completed in the near future.

Mayor Oster and the Service-Safety Director are proceeding under the recent action of council in which a committee report was accepted which recommended the changes and that an appropriation of $300 be made for carrying on the work.

Evangelist Willhite reports the number of conversions up to date as follows: Formerly reported, 276; Monday night, 8; total, 284.

Thursday night there will be a special service for young people, but old and young will be welcome. CHIEF OF FIRE DEPARTMENT TO FACE CHARGES

Late Tuesday afternoon City Solicitor Gregg, acting upon instructions from Mayor Oster, was drawing up charges against Chief of the Washington Fire Department, G. M. Paul, asking for his removal for alleged insubordination.

Mayor Oster expected to file the charges with the local Civil Service Commission immediately.

Failure to comply with the instructions recently issued for a weekly fire drill and for tests of water hydrants are said to be the acts of alleged insubordination.

SHE THOUGHT ANGELS HAD SPOKEN TO HER

Hears Music After Twenty-seven Years of Deafness.

Newport, Ky.—Here is the great adventure:

It is to hear music when one hasn't heard a sound in a lifetime of twenty-seven years.

To Mrs. Hilda Runkel of this place it was as though angels had spoken. Until recently Mrs. Runkel neither heard a sound nor spoke a word. And she is twenty-seven.

Recently she was paying a visit to her downstairs neighbors, the Catillas. John Catilla had fashioned a home-made violin out of a cigar box. It was a fairly good violin at that. It is good enough to produce "My Old Kentucky Home." And that was what Catilla was playing at the moment of the miracle.

Mrs. Runkel was seated. But suddenly she arose. In her eyes was a look of one to whom had been given a great revelation. She lifted her hand to her right ear, and then she pointed to the violin and then again to her ear. And thus she made it known that she had heard.

Each day since her hearing has improved. She is now learning to make the sounds she hears. In seven days she mastered fifty-two words. Mrs. Catilla is her teacher.

"Mother" was her first word, and "father" was the second. The words came painfully like those of a baby learning to talk.

THE FIRST SKYSCRAPER.

It Was Designed by a Savoy Architect Three Centuries Ago.

Credit for the first skyscraper built in this country is generally conceded to Chicago. It was built in the "loop district" of that city in 1886, from plans by Holabird & Roche. The first example of lofty building in New York city was the structure at 50 Broadway, designed by Bradford Lee Gilbert in 1888. A few years later both these wonders became insignificant and practically forgotten because they were so greatly outdone by succeeding skyscrapers. But these were not the initial efforts, for a skyscraper was designed nearly three centuries ago, many generations before the discovery of the steel cage system of this day.

Jacques Perret, an architect of Chambery, Savoy, is the accredited author of plans for an eleven story building, 361 feet in height, which must have had twice the space between floors, for today eleven stories are crowded within a height of 150 feet. Perret's building was planned to be 166 feet long and 140 feet wide, with supporting walls twelve feet thick at the base.

While never executed, the project of Perret in many ways was a remarkable prophetic vision. Evidently it was intended for dwelling purposes, for in describing the project he wrote, "This great and excellent edifice can accommodate comfortably 500 people."—New York Post.

INDELIBLE MARKING.

Advantages of Using Just Ordinary Blueprint Solution.

There are many occasions upon which it is necessary to mark linen or wearing apparel indelibly with one's name and address, yet the ink sold for this purpose is not always convenient to use or attractive in appearance, says the American Boy.

A very good substitute is the ordinary blueprint powder, sold by any photographic dealer, a thick solution being made and used just as the ordinary ink would be. Instead of fixing this by the use of a hot iron, it is made permanent simply by washing in several changes of cold water. When thoroughly fixed the writing will appear in a very pretty shade of blue. Should you prefer a rubber stamp may be used instead of a pen. In this case a little glycerine should be mixed with the solution, which should be spread upon a clean cloth or blotter. This is then used as an inking pad for the stamp.

Aside from its convenience marking with blue print solution has the advantage that traces of the writing or any stains caused by it may be removed if desired by the application of a solution of tannin.

Farmer Buried Alive.

Warsaw, Ind.—Martin Greenbaum, a farmer, narrowly escaped death under a strawstack. Cattle had burrowed in the stack so that it threatened to topple over. Greenbaum attempted to prop up the stack and was caught under it when it collapsed. He was dug out two hours later by relatives who missed him and who had found him under the straw after a long hunt. He was almost suffocated when rescued.

THINGS DOING AT THE MOVIES

COLONIAL

"The Winged Idol," Monday and Tuesday's Triangle, is a Thomas H. Ince production of unusual strength, owing much of its attraction to the charm of Miss Katherine Kaelred, in the role of a Russian seeress.

"Crooked to the End," Triangle comedy featuring Fred Mace, accompanied the Monday-Tuesday program Thursday and Friday bring one of the choicest of the Triangle collection, "Jordan is a Hard Road," a quite recent release starring Dorothy Gish, Owen Moore and Frank Campeau. The scenes of the play are laid in the Canadian Northwest, and are brimful of action.

The inimitable comedy artists Weber and Fields, with Roscoe Arbuckle, Sam Bernard and Willie Collier, commend the action in the comedy reel "Fatty and the Broadway Stars," running with the Thursday-Friday program.

EMPIRE.

Howard Estebrooke, seen here in Officer 666, appears in another Gold Rooster production at the Empire, Tuesday, "The Closing Net," a five part feature directed by Edward Jose, producer and actor of note, late with William Fox.

Wednesday the Empire presents "Midnight at Maxims," consisting of four reels of comedy with Ethel Rose and Lee Pirnikoff. The fact that the famous Maxims is the actual scene of the play completes the picture's reality.

Bessie Barriscale, prominent stage star who has been recently in The Golden Claw, revisits Washington in "The Reward," a four part Thomas Ince produced Mutual masterpiece, Thursday.

Charlie Chaplin, prince of fun-makers, returns after a long absence in "Shanghai" Friday, one of the most recent Chaplin releases, Saturday brings the usual varied program.

WONDERLAND

Hugh Weir's big serial, "Graft," which has awakened very considerable interest in the larger cities of the East, has been secured by Manager Johnson of the Wonderland for local audiences. The first episode will be presented Tuesday.

This feature is a powerful and comprehensive expose of big financial manipulation, and is undoubtedly the crowning work of the local author.

The installments will be run on the same days as those of "Neal of the Navy," the latter concluding in three weeks.

Laura Hope Crews is a Wonderland visitor Wednesday, starring in "The Fighting Hope," a five part Paramount.

"Kilmeny" is the title of Friday's Store.

Paramount five-reeler, which presents Lenora Ulrich in the lead.

Thursday—Paramount Educational.

PALACE

William Farnum leads the bill at the Palace again this week, appearing Tuesday in "The Soldier's Oath," a play in which the present European war is made the center of action and presenting Mr. Farnum in the unique and pleasing role of a French soldier.

Some of the battle scenes in this picture could not have been more realistic if genuine, and the work of Farnum is that of the artist inspired.

Pretty Dorothy Bernard, the charming little brunette who has been starring with Farnum in nearly all of his latest successes, has been mated with him in this.

Another feature of more than ordinary importance at the Palace this week will be a Biograph adapted from the master piece by Georges Ohnet, produced in three reels and featuring Serge Panine.

Among the lower animals only five per cent are defective at birth, a much lower ratio than among human beings.

TANLAC SECURES HIGHEST RECORD

Quality Tells The Interesting Story Of This Extraordinary Medicine.

No other medicine ever has approached the wonderful record of Tanlac. Its success is a romance of the staid business world—a success built on merit so unusual that in just nine months after Tanlac had been introduced, one million bottles had been sold to men and women who had learned its superior qualities for the relief of ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys and catarrhal affections.

Tanlac appeals to the best people everywhere. These are the men and women who judge intelligently and impartially, and the result always is a Tanlac verdict. Upon the endorsement of many thousands of well known people rests the great and secure popularity of Tanlac.

Those who take Tanlac always return for the second bottle because the first few doses establish its merits. Tanlac is so efficient and pure, it at once makes known its value in derangements of the stomach, indigestion, upset nerves and debility.

Tanlac, that has come to be generally known as the Master Medicine, may now be obtained in Washington C. H., at Blackmer & Tanquary's where it is explained daily to many people.

Tanlac may be obtained in New Holland at the New Holland Drug Store.

LANSING DESIRES DEAL WITH KAISER

Nation's Honor Involved In the Lusitania Issue.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The United States has completely shut off any hope of a settlement of the Lusitania case with Germany through the machinery of international arbitration. This fact, obtained from an official source, indicates the extent to which Secretary Lansing has gone in his demand for an unconditional disavowal by Germany.

The refusal to arbitrate, it was learned, was based on the ground that the "vital interests and national honor" of the United States being involved the matter was one which could not be submitted to arbitration.

It was the second time such a proposal has been turned down, and it was rejected finally at the last conference which the secretary of state had with Ambassador Bernstorff.

The first proposition was made soon after the Lusitania was sunk. At that time it was rejected on the ground that the United States had no assurances that, pending an arbitral decision by The Hague court, to which Germany proposed to submit the dispute, Germany would not continue sinking merchant vessels without warning. Subsequently, however, Germany informed the United States that she had rescinded her former orders to submarine commanders and that henceforth the rules of international law requiring due warning and care for the safety of passengers and crews would be strictly lived up to.

DR. ANGELL IS BLIND

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 1.—Dr. James B. Angell, president emeritus of the University of Michigan, it was learned, has gone blind. He is confined to his bed and is reported to be in a weakened condition as a result of overwork. Attending physicians say Dr. Angell may recover his sight.

MISBRANDING GIVEN WHACK

Washington, Feb. 1.—A general blanket measure to prohibit misbranding of all articles entering interstate commerce not covered by the pure food and drug act and the insecticide act has been framed by a subcommittee of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, and soon will be presented to the house for consideration.

1000 PEOPLE FLEE

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 1.—The White river levee at Newport broke and flood waters now cover the town to a depth of from two to six feet. The break had been expected and 1,000 people had left the city. Those who remained had moved into the second stories of their homes.

BERLIN HUNGRY?

Amsterdam, Feb. 1.—Food riots have been resumed in Berlin, and in the latest clash six persons were killed and seven injured by troops who were called to suppress the disturbance.

Passes Civil Service Examination.

Columbus, Feb. 1.—Dr. William S. Hoy of Wellston, state representative, who worked during the last session of the legislature in an unsuccessful attempt to repeal the civil service law, has passed civil service examination for the position of chief medical examiner for the state industrial commission. He ranks fourth on the list.

His Own Attorney.

Cincinnati, Feb. 1.—R. B. H. Bear of Dayton conducted his own defense when taken before United States Commissioner Adler to answer the charge of having narcotic drugs in his possession. He was arrested at his home recently after, it is alleged, he had sold morphine to old soldiers. He was bound over to the grand jury under a $5,000 bond.

In Behalf of Creditors.

Cincinnati, Feb. 1.—Suit was filed by the government against Harmon Brothers, contractors, who were awarded the job of building the new postoffice at Portsmouth and went into bankruptcy before the completion of the work. The suit is filed in behalf of creditors of Harmon Brothers, who are seeking to recover from the trustees in bankruptcy and the Illinois Surety company, which went on the bond of the contractors. The suing creditors claim to have supplied labor and materials.

WILL APPEAR BEFORE HOUSE COMMITTEE

Goethals Arrives From Canal Zone and Talks About Slides.

New York, Feb. 1.—Major George W. Goethals, governor of the canal zone, arrived here to appear before the house committee on appropriations. On the same steamer was Brigadier General Clarence Edwards, military governor of the zone.

Some comment was occasioned by the fact that both should leave the canal at the same time, giving rise to rumors that there had been friction between them. Both, however, denied this and General Edwards explained that he had been summoned home by the war department to attend a general council on defense—not on the canal zone alone, but of the country as a whole.

General Goethals said that there would be several millions of dollars left over from the canal appropriations, even after all the present dredging had been finished, and he assumed that this money would be turned into the improvement of the defenses. Military barracks and other essentials were insufficient, he said.

With regard to the canal slides, General Goethals said he was in favor of keeping the waterway closed until the mass of rocks at Gold Hill either found a resting place or the engineers were able to divert it. It consists of a ledge about 200 feet long, which began to move in November. At that time it was 625 feet above sea level, but it has slid down to an elevation of 475 feet. If it once finds its resting place, in the words of General Goethals, "the trouble with the canal will be over."

PREDICT FLOODS

Washington, Feb. 1.—Flood stages in the lower Mississippi approaching any recorded in past years are predicted by the weather bureau. A flood warning forecast exceptionally high waters from Vicksburg to the river's mouth.

STRATEGY OF A SCOT.

Ruse by Which the Laird o' Cockpen Came Into His Own.

"Brose and Butter"—that is, porridge and butter—is an old Scotch tune of which Prince Charles, afterward Charles II., was very fond. The laird of Cockpen when Charles was at The Hague played the air for the prince the last thing at night and the first thing in the morning. On returning to Scotland after the restoration the laird found his estate had been forfeited for his attachment to the royal cause, and, sad to relate, Charles, forgetful of Cockpen's services, refused to interest himself in his faithful follower's petition to have it returned to him and even refused him an audience.

what he could not by direct appeal. While in London Cockpen formed an intimate acquaintanceship with the organist of the Chapel Royal and prevailed on him to allow him to act as his substitute at a service at which the king was to be present. Obtaining his consent, he played the regular tunes for the service. When dismissal time came he played the king's old favorite melody, "Brose and Butter."

On hearing it Charles wended his way to the organ gallery, where he found his quondam courtier, whom he greeted with a touch of the old familiarity, remarking, "You almost made me dance." Quick to seize the opportunity, the laird responded, "I could dance, too, if I had my lands back again." Charles' better nature awoke under the power of the music and the old memories it recalled, with the result that the laird received his own again.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Burial Customs of the Hittites.

Although the tombs of the necropolis had been rifled at an early date, a great deal that is new was learned about the burial customs of the Hittites. foot high was inclosed in a footed vessel of cylindrical shape, which was beautifully decorated in patterns like those of Crete and Cyprus. Around the middle vessel were grouped various dishes containing burial gifts or oil, most of them plain, but some of beautiful shape and as thin as modern china, though unglazed. It can well be seen that these two vessels would protect the ashes from dampness from below, but as both were open at the top there was a large cover, like an enormous bowl, inverted over the other two vessels.—Christian Herald.

DELIVERING STRONG COUNTER ATTACKS AGAINST GERMANS

French Endeavoring to Recover Lost Ground.

ASSAILING GERMAN LINES

Teutons' Attempts to Follow Up Successes Gained the Last Two Days Blocked by the Enemy—Zeppelins Drop Bombs On English Coast, Do Little Damage—Allies Occupy Additional Greek Territory.

London, Feb. 1.—A fleet of six or seven Zeppelins passed over the eastern and northeastern midland counties, dropping a number of bombs. As far as could be learned very little damage was done and no injuries had been reported. The names of the towns affected by the raid have not been given out.

London, Feb. 1.—The French have defeated attempts by the Germans to follow up the successes they gained in the last two days in their new offensive on the western front. The German war office statement claims no further gains. The ground won by the Teutons in their new onslaughts on the four geographically separated sections of the front, remain, however, firmly in their hands. The French during the last twenty-four hours launched determined counter attacks on the German lines in an effort to wrest back from the Teutons

the lost ground, but in vain. Thus the new German western offensive appears to have been, for the immediate present at least, halted.

The Germans, however, keep hammering the French lines with unabated violence, and they seem bent upon adding to their gains at all cost. They made two attacks on the French lines in the Arras sector, southwest of Hill No. 140, near the Vimy heights, which command the important Arras-Lens road. Here they are endeavoring to push their front further ahead to improve their strategic position.

The German official statement declares that "fighting actively has somewhat decreased," and ascribes this to the misty weather. This is taken to indicate that they will renew their general offensive as soon as the weather permits.

The occupation by the allies of the Burun peninsula, due south of Salonica, was prompted by the necessity to guard the allied transports in the Salonica waters. It was explained in a dispatch from the Greek front. Simultaneous with these explanations came a dispatch from Milan saying that the British also have occupied the Fort Kum Dale, opposite Kara Burun. The Greek garrison embarked, the dispatch says. The immediate cause for the landing at Kara Burun was the torpedoing of an allied mule transport by a German submarine, which had approached to within a few miles of the channels leading to the port of Salonica. The vessel was beached and part of the cargo was saved.

Five French aeroplanes engaged the Zeppelin which on Saturday night last dropped bombs on Paris, killing and wounding over two score of persons. They failed, however, to bring the Zeppelin to the ground.

Other junk collected and sold by Gross the past year were 50,000 old grain bags, 10,000 used automobile tires, 3,000 old rubber shoes, 3,000 pounds of brass, copper and other metals, 6,000 pounds of rags, 80,000 pounds of scrap iron, 2,000 pounds of green hides, 2,000 pounds of wool and 1,500 pounds of pelts.

BEAR CAUGHT IN CITY.

He Was Fine and Fat, and a Butcher Bought Him For $20.

Seattle, Wash.—A fat black bear weighing nearly 400 pounds was trapped and killed on the edge of the city limits, near Cowen park and about one and a half miles from the university.

The downfall of bruin was brought about by two unknown men who sold the bear while it was in the trap to A. Lampert, a butcher of Redmond, for $20. According to the men who trapped the animal, it had established its headquarters on the hill near the Cowen park ravine and had apparently decided to spend the rest of the winter there.

The bear was in prime condition and had evidently found the back yards of Cowen park residents fine foraging grounds.

Brought In 165 Hides.

Twin Falls, Ida.—County in the sum of $412.50 has been paid to Z. J. Lynch of Milner, who brought in the hides of 162 coyotes and three wildcats. All were trapped by Lynch in a little over two months' time.

ROMANCE OF THE BAHAMAS.

Life in Nassau Was Once a "Purple Princely Thing."

During the American war between the states Nassau of the Bahamas was very much on the tongues of men, as the devil-may-care emporium of contraband cotton, whereby hangs many a dashing sea story, some of which you can still hear from the lips of the men who took part in them.

The whole history of the Bahamas, since Columbus made his first landfall in the western seas on Watling's island, has been a fantastic record of desperate opportunism. The prose of "legitimate" business has seldom dulled the edge of precarious prosperity on these derelict islands, whose very existence still seems at the grudging mercy of the sea.

Buccaneering, wrecking and blockade running—no more tedious employ than these masculine professions occupied the Bahamians for generations, and so long as there were merchantmen to be boarded or scuttled, rich cargoes to be harvested from the white fanged reefs or cotton to be run to Wilmington at a profit of $100,000 the trip life in Nassau was a purple princely thing, and even the shoeblacks in Bay street played pith and toss with gold.—Richard Le Gallienne in Harper's Magazine.

SUB SAFE

Missing Vessel Will Reach Florida Port This Evening—Particulars Lacking.

By Associated Press.

Washington, February 1.—The submarine K-5, which has been missing since Sunday, is safe, and proceeding to Key West, Florida, according to a message received by the Navy Department's wireless early today.

The message was from the torpedo boat destroyer Sterrett, which had been sent in search of the missing submarine.

Navy Department officials estimated that the K5 should reach Key West about 6 p. m., today.

UNIQUE DISPATCH BEARER TAKEN

By Associated Press.

Kiev, February 1. — Among German prisoners recently brought here were a number of men who called themselves "Dispatch Skaters." From them it was learned that a whole company of expert skaters had been equipped early in the winter to carry dispatches by short cuts across the lakes among which the Germans have taken up winter quarters in various sections of the front.

The organizer was said to be a man of the name of Wagner from Vienna, a prize skater and racer of local renown. The prisoners, including Wagner, were captured at Volini, near Valadimir, Volynsk.

NEW CANAL IS PLANNED

By Associated Press.

London, February 1. — A "Kiel Canal" for Great Britain, connecting the River Clyde, which flows into the Irish Sea, with the Firth of Forth on the North Sea side, was recently discussed before the Royal Colonial Institute as a necessary naval measure.

Such a canal would open up naval communications between the east and west coasts of Scotland, save warships from the danger of hostile submarines lurking among the numerous small uninhabited islands of the Scottish coast and put the great shipbuilding yards along the Clyde at the disposal of the North Sea Fleet.

No Solution in Buffalo Crime—Young Girl Victim Still Unconscious—Male Survivor Detained.

By Associated Press.

Buffalo, N. Y., February 1.—Miss Grace Teiper, one of the injured victims of Monday's tragedy near this city, was still unconscious today, and unable to make any statement concerning the murder of her mother and brother.

The condition of John Teiper, the second survivor, was improved, and he was brought to police headquarters in this city.

According to authorities, he is "being detained."

TRICKY AND A BLUFFER.

The Spreading Adder Will Fool You if You Don't Know Him.

He's a sly creature, this snake. When he's discovered and trapped he'll make such a hullabaloo about it, with his hissing and contortions, that if you're not wise to the fact that he's only bluffing you're sure to be frightened. If you're acquainted with him, however, and refuse to run, he'll give one final twist and roll over on his back, just as though he had made up his mind to die and save you the trouble of killing him. But don't be fooled. He's only playing possum. He's the spreading adder.

His tricks have resulted in all sorts of wild stories about him. Many people believe he's poisonous, because he spreads his head out flat and hisses when he's disturbed. As a matter of fact, he couldn't hurt you if you picked him up by the head. He's only bluffing when he hisses.

Then there's another story about the spreading adder to the effect that he will bite himself and fall over dead. This belief comes from his habit of playing possum when he sees he's cornered and can't escape.

The spreading adder is about thirty inches long, a reddish brown and blotched and spotted. He lives in dry woods and on sandy hillsides and eats toads and insects. He's also called the blowing viper or the hogsnout adder.—Philadelphia North American.

HAS TO SPLIT HIS TIPS.

Not All the Money the Waiter Gets Goes Into His Pocket.

Don't think the waiters are getting rich. They might if they could keep all their tips, but—

Comes a waiter of twenty years' service who says the man who does the serving is lucky if he gets 25 per cent of his tip money.

"We wouldn't complain much if we were allowed to keep our tips," he said, "but the waiter is by necessity the best tipper in the world. He has to split his tips at least five ways. The head waiter gets his, the captain has his hand out, and the 'scrub' waiter and cook are next in line.

"If the waiter keeps all the money the captain will soon get wise to him, and he will get no more 'live ones' steered up to his table. If the cook is neglected the waiter might get his orders cold from the kitchen. If he doesn't cross the palm of the head waiter with silver once in awhile he will be looking for another job.

"The popular idea that all waiters are rich is 'all wrong.' The average waiter gets about $6 or $8 a week, and some of them get less. The man that leaves a quarter in the tray is really giving the waiter about 6 cents."—Chicago Tribune.

A Visit to Lincoln In Wartime

MAJOR GENERAL GRENVILLE M. DODGE, famed both as a commander in the civil war and as the chief engineer during the construction of the Union Pacific railroad, wrote for private circulation a book of personal reminiscences of Lincoln, Grant and Sherman, each of whom he knew, the last two intimately. In the book General Dodge recounts a number of anecdotes of Lincoln not generally known.

He tells of a visit he paid to President Lincoln at the White House at a time when the chief executive was greatly worried over the command of the Union forces because he was receiving so many demands that Grant be relieved of the command. General Dodge writes:

"When I arrived at Washington and went to the White House to call on President Lincoln I met Senator Harlan of my state in the anteroom, and he took me in to see the president. It happened to be at the hour when the president was receiving the crowd in the antechamber next to his room. Senator Harlan took me up to him immediately and presented me to him. President Lincoln received me cordially and said he was very glad to see me. He asked me to sit down while he disposed of the crowd. I sat down and waited. I saw him take each person by the hand and in his kindly way dispose of them. To an outsider it would seem that they all got what they wanted, for they seemed to go away happy.

"I sat there for some time and felt that I was overstaying my time with him, so stepped up and said that I had merely called to pay my respects and that I had no business and so would say goodbye. President Lincoln turned to me and said: 'If you have the time I wish you would wait. I want to talk with you.'

"I sat down again and waited quietly until he had disposed of the crowd. When he was through he took me into the next room. He saw that I was ill at ease, so he took down from his desk a little book called 'The Gospel of Peace.' I think it was written by Artemus Ward and was very humorous. He opened the book, crossed his legs and began to read a portion of a chapter which was so humorous that I began to laugh, and it brought me to myself.

"When he saw that he had got me in his power he laid the book down and began to talk to me about my visit to the Army of the Potomac and what I saw. He did not say a single word about my own command or about the west, showing his whole interest was in the Army of the Potomac. While we were sitting there talking we were called to lunch.

"During the meal he talked about the Army of the Potomac and about Grant and finally led up to the place where he asked me the question of what I thought about Grant and what I thought about his next campaign.

"Just as he asked the question we got up from the table. I answered: 'Mr. President, you know we western men have the greatest confidence in General Grant. I have no doubt whatever that in this next campaign he will defeat Lee. How or when he is to do it I cannot tell, but I am sure of it."

"He shook my hand in both of his and very solemnly said, 'You don't know how glad I am to hear you say that.'

"I did not appreciate then what a great strain he was under—not until reading Welles' celebrated diary, showing that Lincoln had no person around him to advise him; that everything he did was from his own thoughts and decision. It is a wonder to me that he ever got through the war so successfully. I did not know then that Lincoln's table was piled with letters demanding the change of Grant, declaring that his campaign was a failure and wanting to have a different commander sent, etc.

"When I was ready to leave I thanked President Lincoln for what he had done for me and asked if there was anything I could do for him. He said, 'If you don't care I would like to have you take my respects to your army.'"

ONCE A SOVEREIGN STATE.

Now Noli Is Simply a Fishing Village With a Past.

One of the oddest and quaintest little independent states that ever existed in Europe—the tiny republic of Noli, founded before Rome and maintaining its liberty for many centuries until Napoleon swept away its privileges—is today merely a fishing village near Genoa, but it is full of reminders of its former greatness and affords a wonderful glimpse of mediaeval times. Destroyed by the Carthaginians in 217 B. C., and who knows how often by subsequent marauders, there seemed no limit to her powers of recovery.

This quaint little fishing village maintained itself as a sovereign state for centuries, took a prominent part in the quarrels of Guelphs and Ghibellines, sent doughty warriors to the Crusades, commanded the interest of emperors and popes and only succumbed at last to the armies of Napoleon. Dante clambered hither over terrible hills on hands and knees and revenged himself by consigning Noli to his "Purgatory."

Everybody is rich in this poor man's paradise, says the Wide World Magazine. During the anchovy months it is not rare for the 120 boats to earn $4,000 in a night, or $75,000 in a season. Through fish alone a man earns far more than a clerk, besides which he has no "appearances" to keep up. Under these happy conditions he soon acquires land and houses, which afford a steady revenue while he sleeps or fishes. The earth here has only to be scratched in order to bring forth wealth, so rich is the soil and so abundant the water.

Coffin Pasties.

Mince pies now are generally round, but there was a time when they were of a long, coffin shape and were, in fact, often referred to as "coffin pasties." But this somewhat ghoulish name and shape do not appear to have detracted from their popularity. Scoggin, for instance, in the edition of his "Jests" published in 1620, is reported to have said on his deathbed, "Masters, I tell you all that stand about me, if I might live to eat a Christmas pye I care not if I dye by and by after; for Christmas pyes be good meat."—London Chronicle.

ENGRAVINGS ON OLD NUT.

Virginian Made the Pictures Years Ago, and Georgia Woman Has It.

Alpharetta, Ga.—Miss Mary Hook has a large hickory nut which has been a cherished possession of her family for six generations. It is covered with engravings made with a pocketknife in 1731.

The work was done by one of her ancestors, William Kendrick, a civil engineer and schoolteacher. The engravings are perfect pictures, although so small that the aid of a glass is required to see them.

In addition to the initials W. K. and the date 1731 the pictures are a hickory nut tree, a hog, a cormorant, a fox, an eagle and a squirrel with its tail curved over its back and a nut in its paws. This was done in Virginia.

Accomplished.
